Council seeks DetRo probe

Residents say signatures were forged on petitions

After hearing from outraged citizens who said their names had been forged on DetRo Recovery petitions, City Council last Tuesday has asked for "a full scale investigation" to learn the person or persons involved in the forgeries.

Earlier this month DetRo officials submitted petitions to Council urging it "to discontinue all legal action in opposition to DetRo Recovery Products..."

DetRo has proposed to build a compost plant in the city, just east of the City Hall, but the project has wound up in court. City officials believe that the project would cause health and safety problems for the residents.

Petitions were presented by Harry Nelson, who was promised employment by DetRo officials. Nelson submitted the 2,000 signatures to the city on May 11. The petitions were found to be faulty because the name of the circulator was not on them. There were also names of non-residents and teenagers who are not eligible to vote.

But what triggered outrage by residents and council was the fact that there were forged signatures on the petitions. One such name was that of Peter Wayne Silveri, former Romulus resident who presently lives in Van Buren.

Silveri said that his name was "definitely forged on one of the petitions."

"My name is Pete Silveri," Silveri told Council. "I'm currently a resident of Van Buren Township. I also have been for the past nine years a teacher in Romulus. I lived in Romulus for eight years.

"And, as a teacher, I also take my responsibilities quite seriously. Therefore, you can imagine my shock and outrage when I started to get calls from people asking me why my name was on a petition supporting the DetRo project."

"Let me say here and now that I didn't sign my name on that petition. It is a forgery."

Also outraged was John Percy, a resident of Romulus, who said the names of his two sons were forged on the petition. Percy told Council that he has asked the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office to look into the case, and that they (the prosecutor's office) believe that fraud charges could be filed if and when it is determined who was responsible for the forgery.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry asked council to invite Harry Nelson back to council for an explanation.

Battle of budget heats up

Patsy Cantrell, Romulus' finance director, may have second thoughts the next time she offers City Council a summary of a proposed city budget.

Ms. Cantrell stirred a heated debate over her 3-page synopsis of the 1982-83 proposed budget during the Public Hearing phase of the budget.

Mayor William Oakley's recommended budget was aired last Tuesday and it took more than 1½ hours of debate before council was satisfied that the Cantrell summary didn't violate any provisions of the charter.

"I think there was some confusion between the budgetary process and the spending process," Ms. Cantrell later said. "I believe that there were some concerns by some members of council that the Appropriations' Act was in conflict with the City Charter, specifically Section 9.5."

Ms. Cantrell said that some councilmen believed that the summary she offered would allow the mayor to spend money without council authority. "But, in reality, that is not true. The mayor can spend but $750 without council approval."

"Anything above that, must go through prescribed governmental channels," she said.

Mayor Oakley is recommending a $6,292,221 general operating budget. He has until July 1 to receive council approval. The budget also contains several modest salary increases for department heads and a slight decrease — one mill — in the millage rate. The 1981-82 figures show that the city levied 10.0 for general operating, 1.85 for water/sewer debt retirement, 4 for PCHA (Peoples Community Hospital Authority) which totaled 12.25.

However, for the 1982-83 fiscal year, Mayor Oakley is asking 9.2 mills for general operating; 4 for PCHA, 7 for sanitation which comes out to 10.3 mills.

Mayor Oakley had earlier stated that "We are in position to take this action this year only because we have worked hard in the past few Pupils at Merriman School in Romulus learned that quilts can be a tedious job and need a lot of patch up work before they can become realities. And, under the supervision of second grade teacher Roberta Orme, the students put together a beautiful quilt that will go on sale during the annual Merriman School Fair. The proceeds from the quilt will be donated to the school's PTA. Showing off their work of art are Nicole Boyd, 8, (from left), Jasen Drouillard, 8, Mrs. Orme, Jasen Fabrizio and Alanna Young.

Happy birthday Police to hold 'Open House'

Amidst the controversy of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and Sheriff William Lucas' right to maintain his patrols was born the Romulus Police Department last year.

The Commissioners won a court battle, forcing Lucas to disband the patrols which were providing service to Romulus and Huron Township.

A year later, Romulus police department is in operation and doing fine. In commemoration of that historic day, Police Chief Donald R. Flood announced this week that his department would host an "Open House."

"I'm proud of our staff and the work they have performed for the city," Chief Flood said. "It isn't often that you can put together a group of dedicated men as fast as we were expected to do and accomplish what we have in such a short time span."

To mark the occasion, Mayor William M. Oakley sent a congratulatory letter praising Chief Flood and the department. In the latter the mayor stated, in part:

"As you will recall, it was a little over a year ago that the Wayne County Board of Commissioners made the final decision to discontinue providing contractual law enforcement services to the City of Romulus."

"As a result of that action, the city began the very important, albeit time consuming task of developing a professional, competent police department.

"We are very proud to say that we have made great strides in the past twelve months. We have operating today a properly equipped and professionally staffed law enforcement agency in our city, responding only to our city."

"We are marking the occasion of the first anniversary of the existence of the Romulus Police Department by scheduling an open house at the police station, 11165 Olive Street, on June 18, 1982, from 4 to 9 p.m."

"You are cordially invited to attend and witness first hand our new department, its personnel, and equipment."

"Your presence at our anniversary celebration is important to us."

Break-in suspects arrested

Huron Township police arrested four Detroit men during the Memorial Day weekend and charged them with breaking and entering an occupied dwelling.

The four: Ronald Peltier, 20, and his brother, Kenneth, 19, along with Kevin Hill, 20, and George Hunter, 20 — all of Detroit — were arraigned in an out-county courtroom and stood mute when charged. The four suspects were remanded to Wayne County Jail in lieu of $20,000 cash bond.

Huron police were dispatched to a dwelling on Evans Street on a call of a "suspicious car in the area." When officers arrived, they found one of the defendants in the vehicle and, when questioned, the defendant couldn't produce any identification.

"Our officers then heard a noise and a crash from the rear of the dwelling, and investigated," said Huron Police Chief Joe Carney. "They saw some youths running from the building."

Back-up squads from Romulus and the Metro Park Police also rushed to the scene and the chase began.

Chief Carney said one of the defendants was found in a ditch on Sibley Rd. near I-275, while the other two suspects were tracked down in a wooded area by a police dog.

Police recovered some of the reported stolen goods and also confiscated a revolver. A rifle, TV set and other miscellaneous items were allegedly taken from the house during the break-in, Police Chief Carney revealed.

"Although no shots were fired," Carney said, "One of the suspects told us that they debated on whether or not to shoot our officers."

Chief Carney pointed out that Huron officers George Allen, John Maier and Andrew Morelli took part in the arrests.

"They did an excellent job," Carney said. "We're all happy that this ended the way it did."

Council hears PCHA's story

But seeks 'sort of compromise'

Although the city's two representatives to the Peoples' Community Hospital Authority — Carl Morris and Ed Bizek may have won a battle, they lost the war with City Council last Tuesday.

With PCHA treasurer Roger Remer at their flanks, Morris and Bizek appeared before the City Fathers in hopes that they would rescind a resolution in support of the Simonds' proposal which is on the floor of the State House of Representatives.

Simonds — Joyce Simonds, of Allen Park — is urging her colleagues to pass House Bill 5143 that would do away with the 4th of a mill affiliated cities and townships pay to support PCHA, and in its stead offer a 2-mill levy for capital improvements when and if the voters in those communities deemed necessary.

Council listened to their two representatives to the PCHA and conceded in the future before major PCHA issues came up, they — the two reps — would be summoned before council to offer advice and counsel.

However, council did adopt a resolution offered by councilman Pete Bergeron and supported by Barry Baumann, that it would send a communication through the mayor and clerk together with Roger Remer, Treasurer of PCHA, and our two representatives on the PCHA to our legislators conveying our concerns in reading an alternative to what was proposed in House Bill 5143.

"I offered this motion on a strictly financial basis," Bergeron told his colleagues, "and not on a personal basis. I think the PCHA is very important and helpful to the community, but it's very hard for me to look at it numberwise. We put in $143,000, and PCHA making $9.4 million last year and having an

State Rep Mahalak to seek re-election

State Representative Edward E. Mahalak (D) Romulus has announced he will be a candidate for reelection. The Michigan Supreme Court has established by a reapportionment plan the boundaries of his district.

Mahalak is completing his ninth term in the Legislature.

He is a member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee and chairman of two of its subcommittees, Transportation and Veterans and Military Affairs.

He is also a member of the Subcommittees on Computers, Agriculture and Natural Resources. He has been appointed to two special committees: One to study the affect of Act 641 and Act 642... Solid Waste Management and Hazardous Waste Management. The purpose of this committee is to determine if these Acts are fulfilling the intended objectives and make recommendations if changes are needed.

The other, a special subcommittee of Appropriations members, deals with toxic and hazardous contamination sites. The purpose of this committee is to determine if funds are properly spent, establish financial guidelines, recommend that general obligation bonds be sold, if needed.

The committee is to determine what is needed to clean up sites here in Michigan.

Mahalak said of his reelection announcement, "I am grateful for the wonderful support I have received over the years from the citizens of my District, many of whom have urged me to run for another term. Because of my experience, seniority and seat on the Appropriations Committee, I feel that I can effectively serve as their voice in the Legislature."

The reapportioned district includes the Cities of Romulus, Wayne and Belleville, Van Buren Township and approximately half of Canton Township. The number of the House District has been changed from 38 to 37.

Before being appointed to the Appropriations Committee in 1975, Mahalak served four terms as Chairman of the Veterans and Military Affairs Committee and one term as its Vice-Chairman. He has also served on eight other House Standing Committees: Judiciary, Corrections, Public Safety, Public Utilities, Consumers and Agriculture, Drainage, Roads and Bridges, and State Affairs, and has served on numerous special study committees.

"I feel certain that I can count on the same support from all the people of the 37th District," Mahalak said, "I have always appreciated the wonderful support I have received from the people of the district, and I would like to continue to be their voice in the Legislature."

Mahalak added that he takes pride in the fact that he sponsored many laws which benefit the citizens of his district and those of the State of Michigan.

He noted that he is seeking another term due to the fact that there is a need for experienced legislators to give balance to the next session of the Legislature.

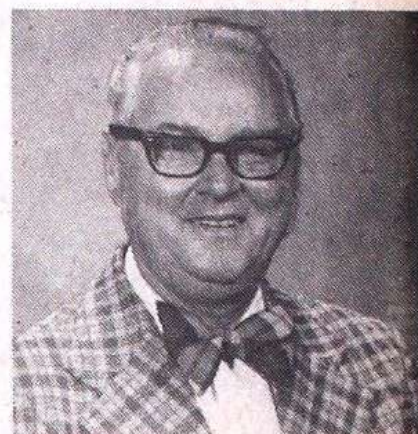

Mahalak was first elected to the Legislature in 1964 and has been reelected every two years since that time.

Mahalak was honored for his 28 years of continuous service in state and local government at a fundraiser party on April 30, 1982 at the UAW Local 157 Hall, 29841 VanBorn Rd., in Romulus.

The hot dog and beer party, sponsored by the Committee to Reelect Edward E. Mahalak, included music and entertainment.

A native of Wayne County, Mahalak served as a Justice of the Peace in Romulus Township for 10 years before being elected to the Legislature.

He served in the Air Force during World War II.

Battle of Potholes

Wayne County losing war?

Few problems are more irritating to drivers than potholes and road construction. Ironical as that may seem, there is probably no one among us who enjoys driving their car on a road that is punctuated with the ruts and potholes that are caused by a typical Michigan winter.

In the hot, dusty months of summer when road construction is in full swing, motorists are once again driven to their limit by delayed trips home from work and rerouting often forced by lingering road construction, and repair activities.

For those of us who live in Wayne County this could be the year that ultimately tests our patience. There are fewer dollars available this year for road repair than at any time in recent history. So in many cases we may have to live with the rule and the potholes long as usual.

On the other hand, many of us are being inconvenienced by the construction along Ford Road between the I-275 interchange and Venoy Road. Not only is the lengthy construction project an inconvenience, but it has also become a subject of concern among taxpayers.

Many people are curious why millions of dollars can be spent on new construction when many of the roads in Wayne County and the state, remain in disrepair.

It is important to remember that roads are not left in disrepair intentionally and that new road construction is not started without a great deal of planning and consideration on the need for improvement. The Ford Road project provides us with an excellent example of the latter.

For years, traffic along Ford Road has been increasing. In part, the traffic has increased because of the growth in residential areas that are served by Ford Road. Starting at Wyoming Avenue in Detroit, the road provides a direct route to a number of suburban areas such as Westland, Garden City and Canton Township.

Obviously, the capacity of Ford road to handle increasing volumes of traffic has not kept pace with commercial and residential development.

Portions of the roadway have been improved at various stages, the segment between Westland and Canton has been neglected. In 1979, the average daily traffic count along Ford Road was estimated at 19,500 cars near the I-275 interchange and 49,000 cars near Venoy Road. By 1997 those figures are expected to jump to 52,700 and 68,800 respectively.

After years of planning and study, the State of Michigan, in cooperation with the federal government, decided to improve Ford Road. The $9 million project includes widening 3.8 miles of

Judge Kirwan to rule today on Debs' petition

Van Buren recall vote is at stake

Attorneys representing Richard Debs, the Wayne County Election Commission and Van Buren Township resident Ron Yurchak will gather today in Wayne County Circuit Court where Judge John Kirwan is expected to render a decision on language incorporated on petitions to recall five members of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

Debs and his attorney contend that the language on the petitions, circulated by Yurchak and his backers, are legally incorrect and are seeking an injunction to stop the recall election.

Judge Kirwan said yesterday that he would render the decision at 9 a.m., after studying several similar cases and other pertinent material.

"The attorneys for all those concerned have presented their arguments," Judge Kirwan said, "and I have asked them to be here at 9 a.m. In absence of any further developments or material, I expect to wind down this case then."

Recall petitions have been filed with the Elections' Commission and the recall targets are Township Supervisor Patricia Cullin, Treasurer Tom Welty, Clerk Doreen Craven, and trustees Chester Wojcie and Tim Toohey.

The petition states "that the five board members approved Debs' hiring as a patrolman then later promoted him to the newly-created position of police commander

"without the adequate knowledge of his qualifications and background as required by minimum employment standards established under Public Act 203, thus exposing the township to unlimited liability for his actions as a policeman."

Kirwan initially was asked to issue an injunction to stop the circulation of the petitions, but the question became "moot" because the circulators had already submitted them to the county.

Debs, a controversial figure who became a member of the part-time Van Buren Police Department in mid-year last year, president of the UAW Local 1776 in Ypsilanti. He was asked to head the local police force in November of 1981.

If Judge Kirwan should rule in favor of Debs, the validity of the petitions would be in doubt.

"I can't say at this time whether it would prevail," Judge Kirwan offered, "There would have to be some change in the language of the petition, and you might say that this would bring everyone back to square one."

In the meantime, the Wayne County Elections Commission has set an August 10 date for the recall vote.

750 employees 'pink-slipped'

Layoff notices last Friday were hand-delivered or mailed to 750 to 800 Wayne County employees, although bargaining continues for up to $16.7 million worth of wage and fringe concessions proposed for a balanced budget that would prevent dismissals.

Samuel A. Turner and James Bishop, respective Chairman of the County Board of Commissioners and Director of Labor Relations, said negotiations will continue until June 14, the date the layoffs are effective. The proposed layoffs would involve more than 20 percent of county employees (which excludes the County Road Commission), and would severely damage public services, Turner said.

"We're still bargaining and hoping for other means to finance the deficit and avoid layoffs," said Turner. "We don't want layoffs, because our staff is already cut to the bone and we have been at minimum operating level for some time."

In the last several years, said Turner, the number of county employees has dropped from almost 10,000 to the present level of about 3,400.

"Also, at one time our budget exceeded more than $1 million per day, but the last adopted was $285.9 million. Even with the projected $16.7 million deficit this fiscal year, we are substantially improved and below that level."

"Our record trying to reduce expenses is very clear."

Last week in a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee, the commissioners considered exempting from budget cutbacks the County Courts, Prosecuting Attorney's Office and Sheriff, but later had second thoughts. The matter was reconsidered and was placed on the table for further discussion at the next meeting, possibly this week.

years at decreasing our expenditures."

However, only a handful of residents showed up last Tuesday to voice their opinions on the budget. Council made up for their absence as several caustic exchanges took place between councilmen Jimmie Raspberry and Noah P. Bergeron.

Raspberry has questioned the administration on the status of the sewer-water funds and has pointed out that an Attorney General's opinion has stated that funds generated from water-sewer contract debt funds can't be used for any purpose other than to pay off contract debt service bonds or expand the water-sewer system.

"Any excess funds should be used to retire the bonds, Raspberry said. "also, the statute requires that a municipality may not assess more millage than necessary to pay off the bonds."

City of Romulus, and Lothar Konietzko, Chief Photographer for the Associated Newspapers.

Halecreek College Bowl

'Michigan is the victor

Halecreek School conducted its annual College Bowl and 'Michigan' stumped the Trojans of UCLA, 650 to 170.

The unique educational program presents an academic challenge to eighteen selected students called scholars.

Conducted like the "Reach for the Top" television program on Channel 9, students are given toss-up questions to answer in science, mathematics, history and the Arts.

Points are awarded for a correct answer; then, a more difficult question is asked to the side that answered the toss-up question correctly. To prepare for the College Bowl, each scholar studied selected topics from the "New Book of Knowledge" encyclopedia.

The scholars met with Art McPharlin, school principal, to go over rules, play practice games and discuss problems or concerns.

Each team of scholars chose a university which they represented in the contest.

Scholars representing U.C.L.A. were Steve Bagwell, captain, Martie Casmer, Charles Crosby, Mary Fitzgerald, Laura Jackson, Lisa Kosikowski, Diane Rocha and Laurie Stewart.

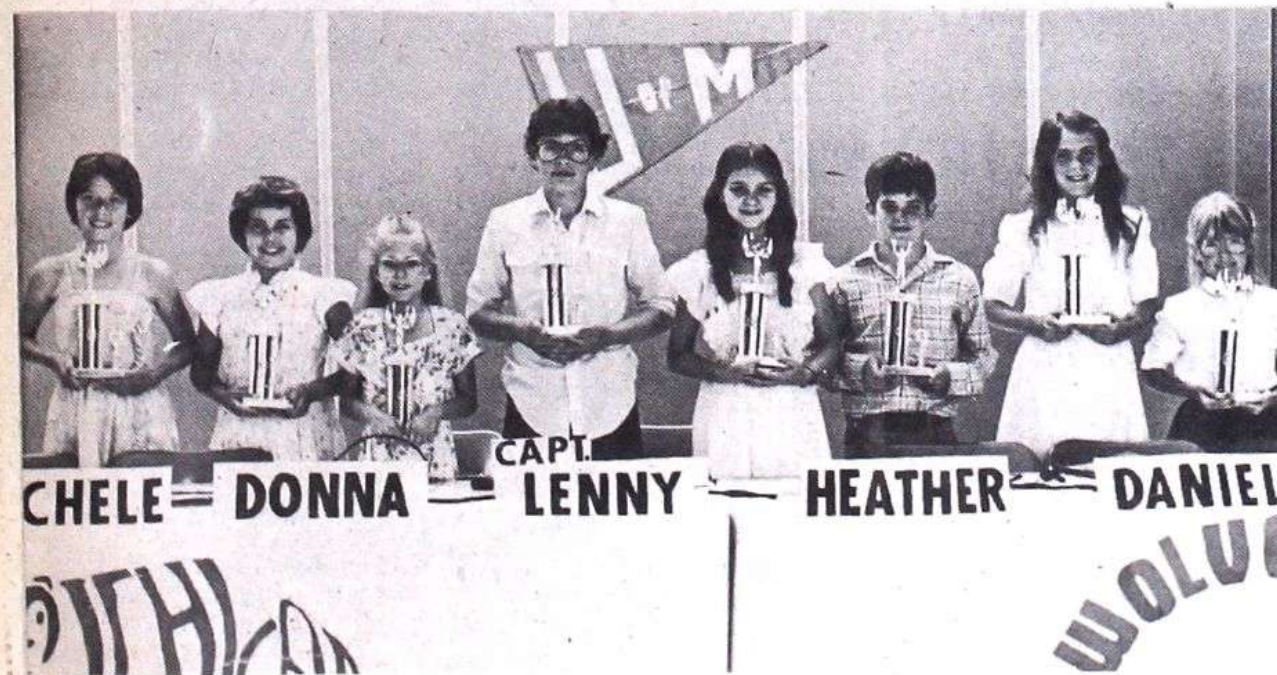

Representing the University of Michigan were scholars Leonard Hawkins, captain, Heather Chandler, Michele Duprey, Donna Fife, Daniel Ochs, Laura Paulitch, Diane Peterson and Melisa Shellenbarger.

Judges for the contest were Mary Ann Banks, Mayor Pro Tem, Dick Campbell, Board of Education Treasurer and Lothar Konietzko, ANP chief photographer. The distinguished judges awarded each student a beautiful academic trophy for their participation in the program. The trophies were donated by the Halecreek Parent Teacher Guild.

McPharlin said: "All of these students are to be congratulated and commended for their extra and fine effort in preparing for the College Bowl today. No one was a loser in this contest today regardless of the score."

Fifty parents and three hundred students who witnessed this academic encounter found the scholars articulate and well versed.

Hail to the victor

Bowling 'em over

Putting his game together in the final day, Phil Pagura (80-years-young) came away with the individual high game, while Irene Tryon also claimed a high game trophy in the Romulus Senior Citizens' Bowling League. The two bowlers received their awards at the annual league banquet held on May 19.

Senior bowls like pro-rolls 215 game

Phil Pagura, age 80, saved his best for last in the Romulus Senior Citizens' Bowling League by rolling the league's season high and his personal high game of 215 in his third game of the final week of the season.

Prior to the May 3 finale, Dave Ries had the season's high game of 211 for several weeks.

To add to the irony of the season-ending session, Gene Madej and Irene Tryon also bested Ries' mark by both bowling 212's the game previous to Pagura's 215.

Phil, 129-bowler in only his fourth year, is a native of northern Italy who came to this country about the time of World War I.

As a young man he worked and traveled all over the U.S. and Canada before settling in the Detroit area to raise a family and work for Ford Motor Company.

He is a colorful man who has seen a lot in his time, and his fellow bowlers have enjoyed the many stories he has shared with them. Phil and his wife, Fatahina, have been married 56 years.

For his bowling efforts, Phil received a trophy at the annual league banquet held May 19.

Other award winners included: women's high game-Irene Tryon (212) men's high series-Jack McCraight (557); women's high series-Joyce Hively (535); most improved man-Rummie Mayle; most improved woman-Marie Buttignoli.

The first place team, the BoBo's, was comprised of Mary Charette, Evelyn Foisie, Eugene Madej, and Stella Madej.

The Romulus Senior Citizen's Bowling League is sponsored by Romulus City Recreation Department and Romulus Adult Education in cooperation with Romulus Bowl.

The Trojans tried

Charles Crosby, Laura Jackson, Steve Bagwell, who also served as team captain, Lisa Kosikowski, Laura Stewart, and Diane Rocha.

Five Van Buren Township youngsters competed in the BMX bike races and wound up with plaques for their performances. The riders are Chris Smoliski (from left), who finished fifth in the beginner's category; Peter Laboda, second place, 8-and-under beginners; Scott Smoliski, eighth place, 14-year-olds and Mark Soave, second place, 13-year-olds beginners. The awards were presented at a banquet held for the participants who are sponsored by D & D Bike Shop of Westland.

Want to learn basics of taking care of child?

The Oakwood Hospital — Peoples Community Hospital Authority Health Center will offer a babysitting class for 11 to 15-year-olds in June.

The class, consisting of three sessions, will be held on Monday, June 7, Tuesday, June 15, and Monday, June 21, at 17000 King Road, at the corner of Allen Road. The courses will be held from 4-6 p.m.

Interested youth with parental consent can register for the baby-sitting class by calling the Health Center at 479-1420 before June 7.

The goal of the class is to teach students the fundamentals of child care. "By learning the fundamentals of child care, the students will be prepared to handle most baby-sitting situations," said Elaine Kanode, R.N., one of the instructors.

Michael's

St. Michael's Lutheran Church on Hannan Road dedicated its new handbell set May 9, during a special service. The three octave set was played for the first time on that date. The new handbells were purchased with a donation from relatives of a St. Michael member.

Also dedicated that same day were the new Lutheran Worship hymnals which were laid in the shape of a cross on the altar steps and then passed out to be used after their dedication. Lutheran Worship replaced The Lutheran Hymnal, which was used for 30 years as a major worship guide. On May 16, twelve youths from Wayne-Westland, Canton and Belleville confirmed into the faith were Lee Ann Adair, Alexandria Boldt, Edie Kurtz, Sheila March, Ellen Petrowsky, Andrea Redman, Glen Staton, Tobey Taylor, Bob Weidmayer, Mark Whitbeck, Jill Herman and James Zabik.

Up, up and away — the installation of the first tower sign in Canton since the change in sign restrictions was approved by the board took place Tuesday at the MacDonald's on Michigan Avenue. The sign, clearly visible now from I-275 will help bring in business, according to local owner Bob Card. The establishment also recently installed a 20-foot sign in front of the business which has increased revenues greatly. "Things are really looking up in Canton," quipped Card.

Ford Road to five, 12-foot lanes with the addition of right turn lanes at all major intersections. It includes the construction of a three-span bridge to carry Ford Road over the C & O Railroad tracks and also includes two paved bicycle paths along both sides of the roadway.

Approximately 77 percent of the total project cost is being paid by the federal government with 23 percent coming from the State Trunkline Fund. There is some local participation in funding. It is important to note that a percentage of our gas and weight taxes are placed in the fund which is earmarked for roads and highways. At no time can those monies, which are in short supply, be used for any other purpose than to maintain a safe, quality road system.

The issue of finding additional monies for roads and highways is currently before the Legislature. Fuel and weight taxes have been substantially reduced because of lighter weight cars and motorists who are driving fewer miles. Contributing to the problem are the inflationary increases in the cost of building and maintaining roadways. Not only must we decide how to raise additional dollars for transportation, but we must decide how those monies will be spent. Among our considerations must be road construction, road maintenance and public transportation.

The Ford Road project has been under consideration for many years and was a high priority among state and local officials. With so many projects pending, the people of Wayne County can rest assured that only those projects that are critical are being undertaken in this time of financial constraints. Once completed, the project will serve as a testimony to the millions of dollars Wayne County residents have paid in fuel and weight taxes to support our roadways.

Views On Dental Health

By SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO NOVOCAINE?

The vast majority of dental treatments are done with local anesthetic. It's safe and easy to use, and the patient is comfortable and conscious. The whole system is not affected, only a specific area; there are no side effects, such as gragginess, and the loss of sensation in the localized area does not last for a long time after the work is done.

The anesthetic is injected at or near the point where the dentist is going to be working. The nerves in the area are anesthetized - there is a loss of sensation only in a "localized area". The patient can respond to instructions, is conscious of the work being done, but doesn't feel it.

Most people associate local anesthesia with Novocaine (the scientific name is Procaine), which was, in fact, a staple for many years. Nowadays, however, Novocaine is seldom used. We've come a long way in dental anesthesia. Procaine has been replaced by safer and more effective local anesthetics. The most commonly used today is Lidocaine (commercially, often called Xylocaine), which is stronger than Procaine and thus can achieve the same effect with a lesser dosage.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S., 9840 Haggerty Rd., Belleville, Phone 697-4400.

Romulus Masons in the class were Johnnie E. Cook (from left), 22057 Duvalle St., Ronald P. Henkel, 27614 Versailles and Chris Lambert, 22018 Castelle St. The 292 Reunion Class was named the George Washington Class in commemoration of the 250th birthday of the country's first president and one of its most revered Masons. Speaker at the traditional 32nd Degree Banquet, which closed the two-weekend reunion, was Robert B. Niewnow, a 33rd Degree Mason and Deputy for Scottish Rite Freemasonry in the State of Wisconsin.

Have a health problem? Send S.O.S. to Crisis Center

Responding to an area-wide rise in crisis calls and suicide episodes, TEL-MED, a free telephone health information service, has added tapes on the topics of suicide and seeking professional help to its tape collection available for public use.

Defining Spring as an "at risk" time for emotional crisis, the University of Michigan Adult Psychiatric Hospital reports a seasonal upswing in both walk-in and telephone emergency episodes in the last two months, with incidents rising from 731 in January to almost 1000 in April. Similarly, the SOS Crisis Center in Ypsilanti documented a 12% rise in calls over the last year. 398 of the calls, averaging more than one a day, involved suicide.

Two new TEL-MED tapes provide information about suicide. Entitled "Suicidal Crisis," number CL 491 and "Recognizing Suicidal Potential," number CL 492, the tapes review causes and ways to deal with suicidal crisis and describe verbal and behavioral cues to suicidal thoughts.

Tape number CL 11, "When Should I Seek Outside Help For Personal Problems?" offers a framework for understanding stressful emotional states and outlines specific signs to use in assessing the need for professional counseling.

To listen to a tape, call TEL-MED and give the TEL-MED operator the number of the tape you choose.

TEL-MED, located in St. Joseph Hospital, offers many tapes on mental and physical health topics. All TEL-MED tapes are written and reviewed by physicians or other health care specialists.

Call TEL-MED to hear a tape or to ask for a brochure listing all available tapes. TEL-MED phone lines are open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. Phone numbers are 668-1551 (Ann Arbor), 434-6120 (Ypsilanti) or 548-2832 (Howell.)

TEL-MED is a service provided by the hospitals of Washtenaw and Livingston Counties, the Washtenaw County Medical Society and the Washtenaw United Way.

Van Buren to celebrate 4th of July with Family Day

With Memorial Day out of the way, Van Buren residents will receive a double treat in July as township officials announced that the annual 4th of July celebrations will be combined with its successful Family

Day. Last year more than 15,000 persons took part in the Family Day outing held in Van Buren Park. "We'll have games for both youngsters and adults, races, and a lot of good food," said Tom Welty, Township Treasurer and board trustee. "We are also planning a huge fireworks display this year."

Welty pointed out that organizations and individuals who want to get involved with Family Day programs can contact him at his township office.

Welty may be reached at 699-2001 for further information.

Belleville Baptists to hear 'Love & Kindness'

The Bethany Baptist Church of Belleville will present John W. Peterson's "Love and Kindness" Sat., June 5 and Sun., June 6 at 7 p.m.

The musical is designed to remind Christians of their duties to each other and to a troubled world. "Love and Kindness" is also a call to worship. It is an invitation to share with each other the feelings about the Savior and the implications of His redemptive work — a work which is itself the greatest expression of "Love and Kindness" the world has ever known.

There are happy, joyful moments; there are serious and soul-searching moments; there are quiet and worshipful moments, and something to touch every believer's heart at whatever level of spiritual maturity he or she may be found.

Pastor John Losen and people extend an invitation to the community to share in this hour of worship and commitment.

Bethany Baptist Church is located at 810 E. Huron River Drive, just east of the city limits.

The apricot pit and Laetrille

Editor's Note: Dr. Ernest Sorini is chief of Emergency Room Services at Ann Arbor Hospital in Wayne. He did his internship and residency at the University of Utah Medical Center and has been in emergency medicine for five years. If you have questions for Dr. Sorini contact him care of Associated Newspapers Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184.

By DR. ERNEST SORINI

Last time I talked about the bees, but this time I'm not going to talk about the birds. Instead, I'm going to talk about the pits — the apricot pits that is.

Now I'm sure you are all familiar with the North American apricot, a plum-sized, apricot flavored fruit that grows on trees, just like the way my wife thinks money does.

For years the lowly apricot enjoyed the dubious distinction of being the redolent fruit suited mainly to the production of homemade jams and jellies. Of course, it never reached nursery rhyme status. After all, its rather cumbersome to say that little Jack Horner stuck in his thumb and pulled out an apricot.

A few enterprising physicians, however, are now in the process of taking the humble apricot out of the kitchen and into the cancer therapy laboratories. You see, the apricot pit is the source of Laetrille. As many of you know, Laetrille is a cyanide containing chemical which has been touted by many laymen and a few physicians as being effective against a wide variety of cancers.

Unfortunately adequate experiments have not been performed with Laetrille. Yet thousands of Americans, sick with anguish over their own or their family member's cancer, use this drug indiscriminately as a last ditch effort in an often seemingly hopeless case of cancer.

Many of these patients succumb either to their cancer or to cyanide poisoning compliments of Laetrille. So, please, if you or one of your family members have cancer, see your doctor so that he may refer you to an appropriate recognized specialist in the field of cancer therapy.

Don't take Laetrille — it's the pits.

'Moo-Moo' the cow

As part of the Romulus Senior High School Children's Center study of the farm, the children were given the opportunity to "milk" a cow. "Moo-Moo" the milk cow, as she was named by the Center, was complete with real milk and an udder made from a rubber glove. Denise Gilbert, Romulus High junior, and student in the Child Care program, designed and carried out the project, under the supervision of Jean Schneidt and Audrey Miller, instructors in the Center. To conclude the study of the farm, the children visited the Real Life Farm in Canton to get a first hand experience of farm living. Pictured with Moo-Moo are Ms. Gilbert, and children in the program — Jennifer Havecan, Gary Harris, Derek Welt, Erika Wesley, Leonard Stewart, Clifford Stewart and Casey Tasky.

CETA jobs available to local teens

The Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service is currently recruiting additional trainees for its Extension Horticulture Work/Study Program. The training program, funded through a CETA grant from the Wayne County Employment and Training Administration, is available for 16-19 year old youth.

Applicants must be residents of western Wayne County, excluding Dearborn and Livonia, and be able to meet certain income eligibility requirements. According to Program Manager Gary Greenwell, preference will be given to minorities such as females, blacks, dropouts, and the handicapped.

Through the program, which pays teens $3.50 per hour, the young people will receive training in horticulture vocational skills, employability skills, foundation and survival skills, and participate in personal and group counseling.

The youths also will be involved in horticulture-related work experience. They will be responsible for maintaining the greenhouses and grounds of the 26-acre Extension and Education Center on Venoy Road near Van Born in Wayne. Trainees will plan and implement public demonstration projects throughout the summer as part of their work experience.

Manager Greenwell stressed that participants should be strongly motivated and willing to accept challenges. He added that all trainees are expected to go into regular employment at the end of their training and indicated that the program is not interested in those looking for an easy temporary job.

Now in its third year, the program has been very successful. "So far we have placed 31 of our trainees this year," added Greenwell. He expects that number to increase as new groups complete their training and become available for the job market.

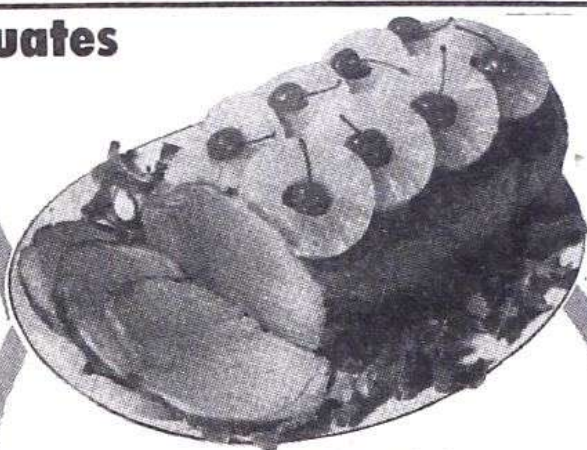

Those interested in applying for the program should contact Andy Berman or Debra McClaeb at the Extension Service. Please call 721-6550, Ext. 225 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Greenwell added that those interested in visiting the Extension and Education Center to see some of the projects are invited to do so.

If you are interested in hiring a well-trained, experienced youth, Greenwell advises, "Please contact us. We have some terrific people and we can match their qualifications with your needs."

Delivers the taste of cigarettes with up to twice the tar.

—Landmark Smoker Study

Extensive research proves 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT consistently matches the taste of leading higher tar brands.

Latest research offers the most conclusive evidence yet confirming MERIT as the proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking.

MERIT Taste Does It!

In impartial tests where brand identity was concealed, the overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Moreover, when tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Taste Debate Ends.

In a second part of the same study, smokers confirm that MERIT taste is a major factor in completing their successful switch from higher tar brands.

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT is an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Lack of trying isn't reason for no property tax relief

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

Why hasn't the State of Michigan offered residents some form of property tax relief?

According to Senate Majority Leader William Faust of Westland, it isn't due to a "lack of trying." In fact, four times in the last two years, state residents have voted on property tax relief measures only to turn them down overwhelmingly.

As Faust sees it, property tax fairness and property tax equity is like beauty; it's in the eye of the beholder, and with some 1,700,000 voters in the state, there are 1,700,000 versions of fairness.

While tax weary residents in the state are seeking property tax relief, the 16-year veteran of the State Legislature believes it is unfair to blame property taxes on state government, especially since that money is collected and utilized by local government.

"It is unfair to blame the state for the increases in property taxes," Faust told members of the Westland Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, "when that money is collected and spent locally. The responsibility for it lays with you and I and local government."

Michigan residents might feel overtaxed, but according to the lawmaker, Michigan has the largest property tax rebate program in the nation, with some $450 million return to taxpayers through tax refunds. In fact, tax refunds this year average $300 per person, with 90 percent of that due to the state's property tax credit.

Faust also pointed that Michigan taxpayers rank 20th among states based on the percentage of their income that goes for taxes.

The State Legislature did attempt to expand the property tax credit program in the state last year, however, that measure was vetoed by Gov. William Milliken.

Admittedly, the drive in the legislature for property tax relief has slowed because of work on worker's compensation reform, the state's growing unemployment insurance debt with the federal government and the battle of the budget. In fact, the senator said, the state's fiscal crisis has made it impossible to implement property tax relief that would include state participation.

However, residents should not perceive the legislature as not doing anything about taxes property. Faust said that a bill, already approved by the Senate, is under consideration in the House that would freeze State Equalization Valuations (SEVs) for 1982 at 1981 levels. That freeze, however, he termed as "temporary at best."

The legislature has consider a "front loader" tax credit program, in which residents would subtract the amount of their property tax rebate directly from their tax bill, rather than paying first and then waiting for a refund from the state.

Faust pointed out that the State Legislature has approved measures, which put the responsibility directly on local government for the increases in taxes. The two acts — Truth in Taxation and Truth in Assessment — require public hearings and a vote of the council to accept the increase in tax revenue due to inflation and to rollup millage to utilize the increase in the State Equalized Valuation.

Faust termed the acts "good ideas, but not the final solution to offering property tax relief" and pointed to the proposal of State Rep. Roy Smith of Ypsilanti, who is seeking a state-wide referendum vote on increasing the state sales tax by one cent, with the new revenue programmed for education and property tax rebates.

Faust said he will push for the proposal to be on the general election ballot in November and will actively support the measure. Especially in light of the fact that 25 percent of the state's sales tax revenue is generated by tourists from out of state and because the tax has been removed from the purchase of food and drugs.

Faust also would like to see a greater cooperation between local municipalities, a form of regional cooperation to provide services, such as public safety and mass transit, that will be less costly and "will benefit all."

"There isn't any happy ending," he added. "We're still struggling to find the answers. However, we know we will achieve our goal of property tax relief, because we know there is no such thing as a fair tax or an equitable tax."

"Property tax isn't based on the ability to pay, and that's why it is resented, and maybe that resentment will help us find an answer."

"Property tax isn't based on the ability to pay, and that's why it's resented, and maybe that resentment will help us find an answer."

Couple repeat vows at May 1 ceremony

Double ring vows were exchanged May 1 between Michelle Marie Jeffers and Eric Lee Nolf at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

The three o'clock rite joined in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert S. Jeffers of Farmington and the son of Robert Nolf of Madison Heights and Kay Curry of Pinckney.

The Rev. Joy E. Arthur presided at the ceremony before some 75 close relatives and friends including the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nolf of Belleville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in traditional white, the bodice of the dress featuring all illusion neckline, high lace collar and fitted sleeves. Lace-trimmed, her tiered skirt drifted into a chapel train as she walked.

Angel lace and blue rosebuds formed the circlet which held her lace-banded fingertip veil while cascading blue and white silk roses and baby's breath completed her bridal finery.

Suburban Living Editor

When my new stove, complete with microwave, was delivered some three weeks back, I vowed it was going to be kept in spanking-new condition — the shiny plates under the burners were not going to become charred with burnt-in spillovers and the underside of the overhead oven was not going to be a cavern for hidden greasy stalactites. As for the oven, I was off the hook — HURRAY — since the modern-day version came complete with live-in maid — a marvelous self-cleaner.

Procrastinator that I confess to being, I am proud (and AMAZED) that I've actually kept that promise to myself; the "range" (as the experts dub it) looks darn good. This evening as I gave those liners a little Brillo-power and dunk through hot suds, I got to thinking how much easier things are for me than they were for my mother.

Not only the ease of keeping that baking unit clean, but the incredible things I'm able to do with that microwave — baking potatoes in mere minutes, for one.

Then there's that rapid little coffee maker which pumps out fresh brew for four as quick as a wink, its throw-away basket liners making the clean-up chore a breeze.

And how 'bout those automatic washers and dryers, gals? Aren't we lucky! When I look back on those Monday laundry days helping fill the old Maytag and the twin tubs, putting the clothes through the wringer — and always fearing a corrugated arm — and swishing heavy sheets and blankets up and down, up and down and then repeating the wringer bit, I can only say "lucky me." Followed by the treks up the stairs with heavy baskets full of wet stuff, washing the clothes-lines, hanging, removing, folding, dampening and then ironing, I can only add "whew!"

Those were only the washdays in our "new house." Being the eldest kid and only daughter, I even have recall to washtubs and scrub boards on a back porch (and no hot water heater) before we went mechanized.

What a snap it is to merely push open a sliding door (on ground level), set a dial, toss in whites or colors and transfer 'em a half hour later to the neighboring receptacle which will not only dry 'em but remove a good many of the wrinkles.

Those wonder fibers are nothing to take for granted either! What did we ever do without polyester blends and wash 'n wear? Self-defrosting refrigerators, too, have taken the messiness and time consumption from our lives and not only do-it-themselves but many even spit out ice cubes which are there for the taking — eliminating that drippy sink-to-freezer operation.

And what a dream it is to have a garbage disposal at one's fingertips, its jaws ready, at the push of a switch, to masticate tiresome peelings, bones and leftovers — doing away with those old newspaper "wraps."

Constant hot water; softeners to do away with rust; fiberglass shower and tub units (axing those tedious toothbrush-scouring cleanser chores we kids so hated with the ceramic tile); kitchen carpeting which has taken scrubbing and waxing right out of our lives; humidifiers and dehumidifiers (and air conditioning for many) — what a super convenient life we lead!

And cheers, too, for the blenders, food processors (I hear they're absolute wizards), woks, crock pots, mixers with bread dough hooks, gas grills, and pots and pans with that most marvelous of finishes (and I LOVE it) — silverstone! I used to think my mom's Wearever was "the" greatest but, wow, would she have loved this new stuff!

Yep, you gotta admit, fellow homemakers, if you can put your mind in reverse and picture how much time and trouble we save with our conveniences, we sure are lucky to be living with today's technology!

IT'S GEMINI SEASON

The "King of Swing," Benny Goodman, had his 73rd birthday Sunday, May 30, sharing his natal date with 55-year-old Clint Walker. The next day, another Clint — "Dirty Harry" Eastwood — turned 52; Don (Alexander Graham Bell) Ameche was 74 and a very grown-up Brooke Shields was still a mere 17.

Bowing in on June 1st 56 years ago, Andy Griffith has since put Mount Airy, N.C. on the map. And Jacksonville, Fla. lays claim to Pat Boone as one of its native sons; his first-of-June birthday making him 48.

Today if you happen to bump into Johnny Weissmuller, you can give "Tarzan" your best on his 79th birthday. And, too, you might lay a kiss on Sally (the original "Hot Lips") Kellerman on her 45th.

Tony Curtis'll be 57; Colleen Dewhurst 56 and Paulette (what ever happened to her) Goddard will be 79 June 3 and the following day a little celebrating will be done by Bruce Dern on his 46th; Robert Merrill on his 63rd and Dennis (Chester) Weaver on his 57th.

And, if you too put in your appearance between May 21 and June 20, you're one of those split personality types, ergo the sign of the twins. Your nerves are your nemesis and nervous problems are something of a lifetime battle. Depression due to sleepless nights is not an uncommon problem and you have a heckuva time trying to turn your mind off.

Since you are freedom-loving and something of a flirt, marriage is not one of your greatest desires. You'd much rather devote yourself to fields of teaching, writing, broadcasting, television — any form of communication. Because you love to talk, you could qualify for a telephone operator or a TV commentator. And because you are an avid reader, you could be anything from a magazine editor to a librarian to a book critic.

You like to be mentally challenged, even in a friendship, and enjoy spending time with people whose minds are as curious, spontaneous and mercurial as your own.

As a friend, you are loyal and sympathetic and give of your time freely and generously. You have an easygoing facade, but underneath you are petulant, irritable and a perfectionist in what you expect from others. You are contrary, argumentative, impatient and very fickle. And it's going to irritate you to wait another week for even more good and bad stuff about Gemini.

Kara Ann Wenzel

They're "thinking pink" these late spring days at the Belleville home of Richard A. and Patricia A. Wenzel at 41234 N. Woodbury. And the object of those thoughts is their brand new baby daughter, Kara Ann, who made her debut at 2:27 p.m. May 21 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The 7 lb.-4 oz. infant, who measured 20 1/4 inches, is the first granddaughter of Richard and Ann Felske of Westland and the late Arthur

DetRo's petitions should be probed

If DetRo Recovery officials were attempting to use petitions as a jackhammer to subdue Romulus City Council into granting them permission to construct a fertilizer plant in that city, the hammer stuck right back at them last week.

Residents were "outraged" when they discovered that their names were included on DetRo petitions to council... signatures they say were forged.

The petitions contained numerous signatures of teen-agers, non-residents and "reeked of fraud," according to persons who appeared last week before council. The petition had urged council to "discontinue all legal action in opposition to DetRo Recovery Products..."

Instead, it appears that there is more legal action by council pending. Council has asked a "full-scale investigation in the matter" because residents categorically deny that they had ever signed the petitions and insist instead that their names were illegally placed on the sheets.

In fact, one councilman who has opposed the sludge plant's project from the beginning discovered that his wife's name was on one of the petitions.

Council members have pointed out that "these forged signatures were not the work of some teenager, but someone (or were the work of more than one person) who knew that the names of such prominent people would draw attention."

Why?

Council is asking the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office to step in and investigate.

We applaud that decision.

Flip of the coin is just not right

As the rains fell incessantly yesterday one had to have sympathy for the scores of high school baseball teams and coaches in the area and across the state whose chances for a district playoff berth would be decided by a "flip of a coin."

That's the method the Michigan High School Athletic Association — the august body that runs high school sports and athletics in this state — utilizes when two teams are not able to play because of inclement weather during the pre-district round.

Most teams were scheduled to play on Friday to determine which would advance into the district. However, rains cancelled almost all local games.

Rains on Tuesday meant that the "flip-of-coin" rule would be put into effect.

It means, moreover, that all the work and sweat coaches and players have put into an already abbreviated season (due to inclement weather) can end by the flip of the coin.

We're confident that there is a better way to determine which team should have a right to compete for district, regional and state honors. And that's on the ball diamond.

The MHSAA should allow teams to meet earlier in the season to play their qualifying round.

The flip-of-the-coin, no matter how it goes, isn't the logical way to produce champions.

The 'why' of tax hike

Recently Robert Brueck of Romulus spoke out on the increase in state taxes. Here is a reply by William Faust, Senate Majority Leader.

Dear Mr. Brueck:

Thank you for your recent letter expressing your opposition to an increase in state taxes. I particularly appreciate hearing from someone who takes an active interest in state government.

First, let me assure you the state has, and is continuing to, drastically cut expenses. At a time when no other state in the country has decreased its operating budget, the Michigan legislature, over the past three fiscal years, has approved budget cuts totalling nearly one billion dollars.

At the same time, Michigan is one of the few states in the country which has not raised taxes in an attempt to combat the effects of inflation and a sagging economy. More than 40 states have.

Secondly, in the current fiscal year, it is estimated the budget is nearly $600 million out of balance. This tremendous deficit necessitates further cuts, seriously jeopardizing the most vital state services. The governor has proposed a plan to balance the budget, which includes the largest single budget cut in history, wage concessions by state employees, and a one percent increase in the income tax, ending September 30th. Clearly, the magnitude of the past three years' state budget reductions has already impacted on every aspect of state government, and will continue to do so.

If the increase is approved, the average household in my district will pay an additional $60.00 in taxes during this year. If the tax is not approved, and the state's credit rating is downgraded, all levels of government, including municipalities, schools, and colleges, will be adversely affected. This could cost the average household in my district at least three times that amount.

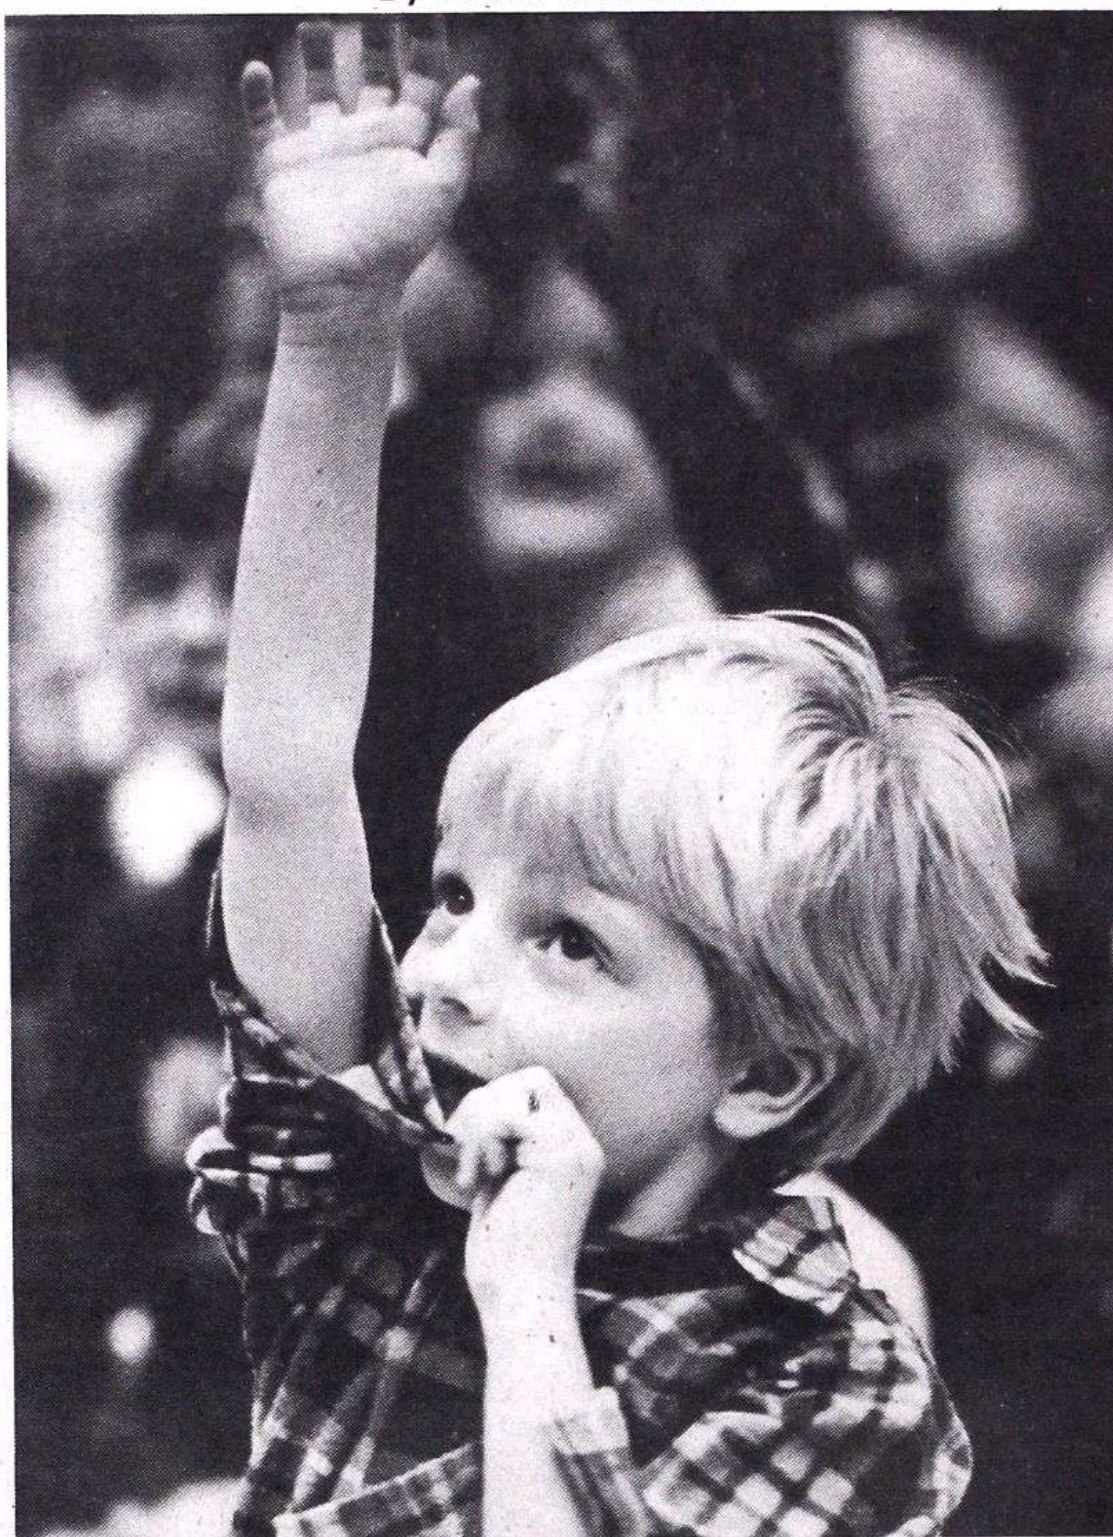

In your own deliberations on this issue, I urge you to consider these points. In my deliberations on this issue, I will consider your views.

WILLIAM FAUST
Senate Majority Leader

'I know'

Guest Editorial

Writer examines teacher's 'piece of fiction'

I feel I must respond to a piece of fiction that appeared in this column recently.

I have always admired an active imagination, and considered it a valuable asset, especially in creative writing. However, when that imagination is used to maliciously attack a complete stranger, then it becomes dangerous and possibly borders on becoming an illness.

I did not even know H.D. Waldschmidt existed. I have never spoken to him, or written to him. And yet, he has taken great pains to attack me personally. I have to ask myself, "Why?" Does he feel threatened by me in some perverted way?

Even the most successful pieces of fiction, touch base with reality at some point. If Mr. Waldschmidt is attempting to respond to any of my letters, he has failed to touch that reality. His article shows no relation to anything I have written. He is careful to avoid any issues or any facts. The entire thing is devoted to trying to hurt me, as an individual. Again I ask, "Why?"

I took the time to find out some facts about my new "friend". H.D. Waldschmidt is an English teacher at John Glenn. He and M.J. Waldschmidt are both employed by the W/W School District. They both will earn $30,520 as base pay for this school year. (You can add another two-four thousand a piece they will receive in the guise of "COLA.") This gives them a combined income of well over $61,000.

If H.D. Waldschmidt does not "vacation in the south of France" or drive a Cadillac, it is by choice. He appears to have the time and the income to do both.

I have stated on many occasions that I feel our teachers are well paid. I still believe that. If it is not adequate, they can always look for full time work.

Mr. Waldschmidt spent such time rambling foolishly about "evil and subversive" organizations that teachers often join. The only organization I referred to was the W/WEA. Maybe he knows something I don't?

He also told us the trouble he has with reading and comprehension. He claimed he had great difficulty understanding my letters. Dr. Timothy Dyer has publicly praised my writing abilities on at least two occasions.

Cesar, that show state aid to our district has

He also seems to have trouble with his research skills. If he would use them once in a while, maybe he could hide his lack of basic knowledge concerning his own school district. There has been great effort taken to convince the taxpayers that our problems in this district are due to a decrease in state aid. I have articles in my possession by both Dr. Dyer and Gene Cesar, that show state aid to OUR district has "only increased 23 percent" over the last 3-4 years. And we are one "of the chosen few" who have not suffered the cuts that are being waved in our faces. (Nobody knows for sure about next year.)

Mr. Waldschmidt, let's examine the little bit you seem to have learned about me from my articles. You state I don't "like" teachers, teachers' union, five members of the school board, and Dr. Dyer. I have never stated that. I have criticized all three at one time or another, but that doesn't mean I "dislike" them. I do not attempt to sit and judge people, that seems to be your hobby. However, when any of these people perform (in their official capacities) in a way I feel is irresponsible, I have the right to criticize them, and I will continue to do so.

Now, to address your observation concerning my "superior intelligence". If you are comparing mine to yours, I will accept your conclusion. You appear to do a good job of hiding yours.

You also make fun of my personal "integrity". What about yours? Does your letter reflect a man of integrity? I have never stooped so low as to attack any individual on a personal level in the manner you have done. In fact, this letter of mine would have never been written, if you had exercised any integrity.

Your letter was aimed at discrediting me. However, it tells the reader much more about you, then it does me. I found it hard to believe it had been written by a professional person. If I had written it, I would be ashamed to have my students and fellow teachers know it.

I have stated many times that the W/W School District has some excellent teachers. I also know that there are many that are not. Thank you for proving my point. Thank you for allowing us to see such an open view of one of our "quality" educators.

The other candidate

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

Harry Stearnes accused this newspaper of being as cold as an eel when it comes to coverage for the announced Republican candidate seeking the Wayne County Executive Office. After all, he points out, there has been coverage of the Democrats — McNamara, Lucas, Hertel — who covet the job.

The Wayne-raised, Westland resident snickers at the Dems' chances of winning what some experts label as the third most powerful elected position in the state. And for good reason. The county has voted Democratic for decades.

Stearnes is the only announced Republican candidate for the job. And, the ex-Associated Newspapers' managing editor (circa 1947-48) and first editor of the Ledger Star, says that he can win it all come November.

"I feel that people are going to be disappointed in the Democratic nomination and I think the eventual winner will not be considered enough of a good administrator in the long run, so most of the electorate will rally to the Republican Party's candidate in November."

"And I feel that I will have an excellent shot at being my party's choice," he boasted.

Stearnes knows county government. He has been a county public information officer for the past nine years, and, as such, sits in on and listens to all of the Board of Commissioners' debates and decisions and then puts the dialogue into digestible form and either mails or drops off the releases to the media.

Okay, then let's elect him as the inaugural county executive. How, then, Mr. Stearnes will you erase this county's huge $16.5-million deficit.

"Actually the deficit is $11.7 million," Stearnes replied, "and the majority of that is the result of the state withholding revenue sharing funds, the deferral of $4 million worth of Medicaid payments and charging the county something like $5 million for its share of Foster Care and other social programs."

"A lot of that," Stearnes continued, "can be reduced in the auditing department, giving the hospital (Wayne County General) autonomy, decentralization of the purchasing department and allowing the sheriff's department to expand and sell services to outlying communities."

"These are only a few things that we can do to reduce that deficit."

At 58, Stearnes is making his first run at an elected office. He said sitting on the sidelines during the many, many political campaigns of the past has convinced him that newspaper people can do the job because "they can remain objective because of their training while newly elected people always have the handicap and past debts to pay to those who put them into office."

That brought up the subject of "Who will finance what some consider to be more than a $500,000 campaign?" if you want to be in the running.

"I'm digging into our savings," Stearnes said. "I'm an independent, but I feel I have adequate personal funds to see me through. How can you be your own man if you have people putting money up for you?"

How does he see the Board of Commissioners and, if elected, would he be able to work with the new bunch?

"I expect only seven of the original commissioners back in January because most of them are either retiring, seeking other offices or left without districts. The majority of the commissioners will be new, and hopefully from this new breed we will be able to resolve the problems that have been plaguing this county for decades."

Oh, yes, let's not forget — Stearnes is married and he and his wife of 34 years have three children who are out campaigning for "the first CEO of Wayne County."

However, Stearnes may have one major problem.

As I finish this column, a note was being placed on my desk. The note says that there will be a major announcement from FitzPatrick's office tomorrow.

Now I wonder what he is going to announce...

'Legend in his own time'?

EDITOR — West coast author Joseph Wambaugh once devoted an entire chapter to one of his characters who 'became a legend in his own time'. This honor was based on an event that actually occurred. I have accomplished this honor based only on myth and word of mouth.

Not wishing to receive such an honor based only on myth, I will attempt to separate truth from fiction.

Legend has it that if I were elected to the school board of Wayne-Westland that I would crush elementary school buildings with one large flat-foot. Also, legend has it that with a mere stroke of my pen K-12 education would reach its lowest ebb. All myth!

It just isn't true that if I walked onto a football field the goal posts would fall and the grass turn brown; nor is it true that gymnasiums would collapse should I enter there. There's absolutely no truth to the legend that the Soviet Union has contacted me to break the Solidarity Union in Poland.

Another part of the legend is that should I even attend a band function that the musical instruments would never again attain the musical tone and clarity they once enjoyed. Not true, I once was within three feet of a piano and to this day that piano is still in tune. Only occasionally do I have minced teacher for breakfast. Basically, I am a vegetarian; and never has my glare shocked children to the point they cannot recover and still learn to read.

I am not the Satanic ogre I have been depicted in the legend.

I have no intention, nor authority to close all the elementary schools in the district. I have no intention to eliminate the sports programs in the district. I am not a union breaker, bent on revenge.

Becoming a legend on such scant information is amusing, but also causes me grave concern. People who circulate such legends bear watching; but the people who believe such legends bear even closer scrutiny. And to quote a well-known local figure, "Only God knows", who those people are.

Bartell replies to critic

EDITOR — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rafalski expressed some concerns about the Van Buren Township police department and our involvement, in your newspapers, here is our reply to that letter.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Rafalski: Your most recent letter of May 4, 1982, was read with great interest. First, you are to be congratulated on your interest in the well-being of Van Buren Township. We too often experience a lack of community interest and pride. Second, I'd like to take a few moments of your time to clarify and explain our involvement with your Township Police Department.

As you probably well know, some months ago the Trustees of the Township employed a Police Commander with the intent of taking another step toward developing the Van Buren Police Department into a highly professionalized public service. Due to a personal problem, the Police Commander could no longer maintain his new position and the position was subsequently abolished. The situation was indeed unfortunate for all involved. As a result, the Trustees decided to use a professional law enforcement assessment approach to select an appropriate Chief of Police that could lead the Van Buren Police Department into its new phase of professionalization.

Not having the expertise to conduct an assessment process (even large cities don't have the capability) they looked for a professional group to provide this service. Bartell & Bartell, Ltd., was contacted, a proposal was submitted and subsequently was hired to conduct the assessments (the search, screening, testing, background check and certification of the top candidates) of the police chief candidates.

To insure that the right chief is selected, we conduct a review of the department — where it is in its development — the type of leadership style that would be the most effective, the service goals and objectives that the elected officials desire to have accomplished, etc.

The findings of this review (not investigation as you suggest) resulted in the fact that the department is operating with much less efficiency than could be expected. This does not suggest blame or reflect on the current administration. The department has lost a strong sense of direction, the support systems have evolved (inefficiently) due to lack of proper design and the accountability to the elected officials and local citizens is not consistent. Using an example — the department is like a car that is operating on only three of its six cylinders when it really needs an engine with eight cylinders working. Needless to say, this probably was not necessary in the past when the Wayne County Sheriff's Department was active in road patrol and support, but such is not the case today.

Please feel free to stop in the Township Building when I'm in the area to discuss any technical point you desire. Having worked with hundreds of communities, our experience tells us that any cost of our services to the Township will be replaced through better quality and greater efficiency in its police services, less legal costs and greater employee morale. The taxpayer will receive a department under the new design that will provide one of the highest levels of full service for the fewest tax dollars. I don't say this idly, as I fully expect to have the department and its service efficiency written up nationally and may even appear on national television.

The fact that you were part of the heritage of this department that is now embarking on its second major phase of development should make you proud. I commend you! If I can answer any further questions, please let me know.

Government Day was educational

EDITOR — Many thanks to Romulus Mayor William Oakley, city officials, and all the people in Romulus City Hall responsible for hosting another successful "Education Day" on Thursday, May 20, at Romulus City Hall. For the past six years "Education Day" has been an integral part of Michigan Week which Romulus celebrates annually during the third week in May.

Education Day is a program where 30 Romulus High School government students get the opportunity to learn about local government, parliamentary procedures, property tax, and among other things, meeting and talking to our city officials, touring city facilities, holding a mock Mayoral Department Heads Session to create an agenda for a city-council meeting.

Special thanks goes to President Pro-Tempore of Romulus City Council, Mary Ann Banks, for all the time and effort she has given to this program the past six years in coaching our young people about parliamentary procedures, and to City Recreation Director, Dennis Davidson, for his efforts in organizing this program.

It's a joy, as an educator, to hear young people talk about their "Education Day" experience for days. Many of these students have remarked about the great hospitality of our elected city officials, workers, and the educational values of this program.

It was a day these students will never forget.

Sincerely,

Barrett gets endorsement

EDITOR — The League of Westland Democratic Voters, the oldest Democratic organization in the area, proudly announces their endorsement and support of Tom Barrett, who is seeking reelection to a fifth term on the Wayne-Westland School Board.

League President Charles "Trav" Griffin stated, "Tom Barrett has served the citizens and children of the Wayne-Westland Community Schools with distinction and integrity. Through his congenial and forceful leadership, the Wayne-Westland Schools has achieved prominent recognition throughout the State of Michigan for its outstanding educational format. Wayne-Westland Schools needs Tom Barrett."

Griffin indicated that in a step-by-step comparison of the candidates' qualifications and experience, the League of Westland Democratic Voters unanimously endorsed Barrett as their choice to continue the educational programs and progressive leadership which will benefit all citizens in the community.

The League urges all voters to exercise their right to better education by casting their vote for Tom Barrett on Monday, June 14, 1982.

Scouts say 'thank you'

EDITOR — I wish to express my personal thanks to the editors of Associated Newspapers for their kind consideration of my "Tribute to G. S. Leaders" that appeared on the editorial page of the Westland Eagle on April 22. It was greatly appreciated.

Wayne-Westland Area Girl Scouts would like to thank the editors for the excellent coverage of Girl Scouting this past year with the column Scouting Around.

We appreciate the opportunity to tell the community about Girl Scout programs and activities. Scouting Around is read and enjoyed by the many Girl Scouts, the volunteers, and friends in the Wayne-Westland area. We thank you for your assistance and cooperation and hope to continue our association in the future.

Yours truly,

Hurray for Canton parade

EDITOR Hurray for Dr. Jim Gillig who, with his parade committee are trying to do something for Canton.

They should receive all the help and support that is available. Jim Gillig has promised that the parade will be much larger than last year and we desperately need marching bands.

Wouldn't it be great for the Canton community to have our high school band with our children marching in our great Canton Country Festival Parade, August 7.

Again thanks to Jim Gillig and the many people like him who are devoting time and effort to promote the Canton Country Festival and the Canton community.

Lansing did it to us again

EDITOR — The politicians in Lansing don't seem to show any mercy for the already overburdened taxpayers. The good ol' boys raised the state income tax from 4.6 percent to 5.6 percent, retroactive to April Fool's Day.

But there is no fooling about this increase in income tax. The taxpayers will have to dip a little deeper into their pockets, and balance their budget accordingly.

Now this increase is suppose to be for a duration of six months. Do you believe it? Don't!

Remember, the excise tax? That was a temporary tax imposed during World War 2. Now it's 37 years later, and we are still paying it.

So remember voters the elections are around the corner — so to speak. You will have your chance, to oust the culprits out of office who voted for this income tax increase.

Sincerely,
JOE DOLINE
Westland

Artley thanks volunteers

EDITOR — On behalf of the City of Westland Council, I would like to take this opportunity to recognize the following individuals of the American Association of Retired Persons Tax Volunteer Program: Verna Kingley, Chairperson, Kathryn Bartley, Lloyd Bartley, Palmer Brown, C. Howard Lesson, Theophil Sadowski, Albert Boehnlein, Henry Dryovage, Estelle Morrison.

These volunteers in cooperation with the City of Westland's Department on Aging assisted 943 senior citizens in the Westland area. These individuals donated 777 hours of their time beginning January 4 through 13, 1982.

Without such dedication as these individuals has shown, many services available to our citizens would not be possible. Once again, The City of Westland's Council would like to thank them for their outstanding contribution.

Don't blame computers

EDITOR — I think that the article "Computer 'forgets' these Honor Roll Names" (May 19-20) is unfair — to the computer, that is.

Many people know that computers never forget things — unless, of course, you pull the plug on it — and so would not have forgotten to insert those Honor Roll names into the appropriate section unless some person had forgotten to tell it to do so!

In other words, we have the familiar situation where someone is trying to "pass the buck." Hopefully, the next time this occurs-if ever-you will not write "Due to a computer error..." Let's lay the blame where it belongs!

Otherwise, I am pleased to be reading the Roman after eight months at school. It is becoming more informative and has more local news.

Mothers on wash days

HEMET, CALIF. — I was sitting in front of the television waiting for the weatherman to come on and let us know when sunny California is going to become sunny again. Outside the patio doors, water was dripping onto the patio and up from the green grass, water was spurting from the automatic water sprinklers which didn't know the sky had already been turned on.

A commercial showed and half caught my interest until it dawned on me that commercial was about as turned around as any commercial can possibly be. Actually, I think I'm going to write to the networks and tell them that because I am the mother of six kids I could write a commercial depicting real life.

The scene which had caught my fancy was the one in which a mother is happily working in her laundry room. (Right there it is all screwed up. No one works happily in a laundry room, do they?) And in comes her son who has recently gotten his own pad. In his arms are a bundle of dirty, dirty clothes.

And he wants his mother to do them for him. He is willing to help. In fact, he is almost ready to drop a dirty T-shirt into the washing machine when his mother grabs it and shows us how really dirty it is, but how "mmmm detergent" can make it come clean. And it does. And the son is awe-struck!

"Gee, mom," he says, "you are wonderful."

Now at MY house, things like that don't happen. My kids coming home from their own pads, or even if they are just coming down from upstairs, might find a happy mother, but not in the laundry room.

My kids mother might suggest she do their laundry, but only because she knows she won't get any takers. Somehow, somewhere along the path of growing up, my kids got the idea they can do anything better than their mother.

Take for instance one day a few weeks ago. My youngest came screeching down the stairs.

"Who washed my jeans?"

"I did," I told her without thinking, since I was reading a romance.

"Motherrrrr, how many times have I told you never, ever touch ANY of my clothes with your washing machine."

"They were on the floor in

front of the washing machine," I told her. "I thought I might as well drop them in and surprise you."

"So you dropped them into a load of stuff being bleached?"

"I did?"

"Mother, don't ever, ever wash any of my clothes again. Promise?"

"I won't," I promised.

And then I went back to my romantic novel, secure in the thought that my kids will always be able to find a happy mother, but not in the laundry room.

MONA GRIGG

expected anything else? I mean, as much as I would like to go on sympathizing, it seems to me he could have at least worded his announcement a little differently.

There aren't many employers — especially in this day and age — who would be willing to go out on a limb and hire a man who had just recently gotten rid of himself.

It stands to reason that any potential employer/interviewer would have no choice but to scribble across the now ex-city manager's application, "The applicant lacked substance."

NOTE: If this column looks familiar to you, it's because it first ran in October, 1981. I figure, since the Ann Landers flap, that honesty is the best policy about these things.)

Budget-cutting the hard way

I read in the paper that the city manager of a certain 1,000 resident upper peninsula village came up with an amazingly clever idea for saving roughly 10 percent of the village's $300,000 annual budget.

He recommended that council eliminate the city manager's position.

(No, I'm not going to mention the name of the village. I will tell you, though, that it's the village right next to the village where I was born... and since, as you will see, there are implications far beyond simple altruism here, and since I like to visit that village every now and then, it shall remain nameless. And curiosity killed the cat, besides.)

Anyway, this particular council, with visions of percentages dancing around in their wee little heads, voted unanimously in favor of the proposal.

After the final vote, the now ex-city manager, apparently dazzled by his own audacity (for want of a better word), could only say, "It wasn't an easy decision. I don't enjoy getting rid of myself."

I shouldn't wonder. It's never easy getting rid of oneself. And it's especially difficult to get rid of oneself and still be around to say, "I don't enjoy getting rid of myself". One usually doesn't have that option.

Personally, I think that particular council acted a little hastily. Maybe they should reconsider and give that poor man a second chance.

I can't help but wonder if, in the act of doing his duty, and in the heat of the budget-cutting moment, he simply forgot who the city manager was.

On the other hand, maybe he was grandstanding. Maybe he was saying, in effect, "See, I'm taking my budget-cutting responsibilities so seriously, I'm even willing to let you consider doing away with my — heh, heh — job."

Of course, I don't expect you to really do it — heh, heh — it's just my little way of expressing my willingness to explore all avenues."

But maybe council had other things on their minds at the time and didn't get the "heh, heh".

Another possibility is that he really had been thinking of getting rid of himself for some time. It can happen. I've done it myself from time to time.

Fortunately, since there was no urgency attached to my decision, I have been saved up to now by my penchant for procrastination.

Then, too, there wasn't $30,000 at stake. Nor did I have to worry about an over-zealous city council being ready to pounce on my ponderings at any given moment, then rushing to make them a reality before I could even say, "Heh, heh."

Whatever the reasons, what's done is done — and the end of this strange-but-true story is sad, if predictable.

Since that unfortunate turn of events, the now ex-city manager hasn't had one single job offer. In all honesty, could he have

Live entertainment includes Gong Show

By ERIC GEARNS
Special to Playtime

There has been an enormously long dry spell since anyone in the Western Wayne County area has been able to see live comedy entertainment. But through the combined efforts of Tigris Supper Club owner George Yousuf and longtime entertainer and promoter Wally Mann, comedy and live entertainment is a weekly event in our area.

The Tigris will feature top local comedians every Friday night and every Saturday the Wally Mann Gong Show will grace the Tigris' luxurious stage.

Among the scheduled entertainers are former TV personality and funny man Johnny Ginger, Detroit's Queen of Comedy Edna Brown, and British funny man Eric Mannering, cut out of the same mold of England's Benny Hill. Future plans call for appearance by former vaudeville star and Michigan's first lady of comedy, 78-year-old young Babe Smith. A favorite of many audiences through the area, Marv Welch, will also appear in future shows, as well as Tony Morea (The Silly Sicilian) and many other top comedians.

In addition Mann promises us a look at some young rising comics who will take the stage to preview what they hope will be a step to the top of the comedy ladder.

Saturday night brings an old friend back to the area with the Wally Mann Gong show. Mann's zany but entertaining evening is styled after the long running Chuck Barris television program but is not censored as the original was.

The going nite brings to the stage amateur entertainers who know that while they may make an unceremonious exit from the stage at the hands of the three celebrity judges, they may also do very well and be discovered as many of

'I feel the combination of the Comedy Night on Friday and Gong Night on Saturday will offer the people a wide variety of talent.' — Wally Mann

Mann's participants have in the past.

In many cases the talent is extremely good and offers the audience a wide variety of talents from outstanding singers, to dancers, stand up comedians, musicians, and a few ridiculous acts that have to be seen to be believed.

Another very strong point of the show is the participation of celebrity judges — in past shows these personalities have included such well known celebrities as Detroit Tiger pitcher Dave Rozema, television magician Mr. Houdini, the late Detroit Sportscaster Red Jamieson, recording artists Johnni Dee and Kenny Rae and members of the media.

The quickie bits are handled with a high degree of professional polish by Mann and his beautiful sidekick/hostess Bea Jacobs. The voluptuous Ms. Jacobs portrays many characters from a famous opera singer collecting for the Godfather's annual picnic, to the lovely Tangerine, (replete with Orange hair) the local lady of the evening.

Without a doubt the star of the show is Mann himself. Mann is a veteran performer who began his career as an assistant magician to the late Jack Baker, better known to Saturday matinee goers as Dr. Silkin. For several years Mann traveled with the Silkin horror show and learned the arts of magic, comedy, promotion, timing, and delivery.

After leaving the show Mann took his varied talents to television where he appeared weekly as the sidekick, Digger Deeper, on WJBK-TV's popular Sir Graves Ghastly show.

After a lengthy TV stay Mann left to enter the promotion business where he brought to Michigan such outstanding names as Tammy Wynette, Ronny McDowell, and Johnny Paycheck.

Mann, although continuing to run his promotion business, missed the thrill of being in front of an audience, and thus was born the idea of Wally Mann Gong Nite.

"I realized that there was enormous amount of good amateur talent in our area, with nowhere to showcase their talents. I used some of my comedy training to put together fill in bits and took the show on the road and the people seemed to enjoy it," said Mann.

The fact that they enjoyed the show was a mild understatement by Mann. For more than five years the show has been running and in some instances as many as four shows per week in four different locations.

Mann is understandably very excited about his new alliance with the Tigris Supper Club.

"The Tigris is one of the most beautiful clubs I have ever worked in. George (Yousuf) is an outstanding host who is interested in seeing that every customer of his establishment is treated with the best of service and receives outstanding quality for their entertainment dollar.

"I feel the combination of the Comedy Night on Friday and Gong Night on Saturday will offer the people a wide variety of talent and a return to the night out at the night club with dinner, drinks, a show, and dancing," said Mann.

The Tigris is located on Merri-man Road just south of Van Born, and just two miles north of the I-94 freeway in Romulus. The menu includes a wide variety of dishes from steaks and seafoods to house specialties such as Shish Ka Bob and Mouska. Reservations are encouraged for show nights and can be obtained by calling the Tigris at 729-1770.

Squeeze lives up to reputation

SQUEEZE
"Sweets From a Stranger"
(A&M)

Poor Squeeze. On one hand, songwriters-singers Chris Difford and Glenn Tilbrook have been favorably compared to no less a team than Lennon and McCartney.

On the other hand, they're consistently tagged with a "too clever for their own good" label, which, in effect, means that they are too good for the masses. Even a letter perfect single like last year's "Tempted" didn't do much on the American charts.

But times have changed. For some reason or another, good records are actually making it to the top of the U.S. charts. Joan Jett and the Go-Go's, for example. And I think "Sweets From a Stranger" will bring Squeeze the popularity they deserve.

It is their best album so far, and a logical extension of last year's Elvis Costello produced "Eastside Story." Hooks are never in question, as Difford and Tilbrook write them with the best, but what puts "Stranger" a cut above their previous LP's is consistency. Sure, there are some songs that are better than others, but those ones are GREAT, and even what would seem like filler here would be another band's lead cut.

Much of the material here is regarding relationships, either past, present, or future. Tilbrook's and Difford's wit lends itself well to this subject, and is found in nearly every song. "Black Coffee In Bed" is a good case-in-point.

It starts out like a typical, albeit profound, lost-love song.

There's a stain on my notebook
Where your coffee cup was
I was writing to tell you
That my feeling tonight
Are a stain on my notebook
That rings your goodbye.
Heh, heh. "Rings" your goodbye.

"The Very First Dance" tells the story of a first sexual encounter, which just happened to be with a stripper, while "When The Hangover Strikes" is exactly what it sounds like: "I turn on the tap but the water's too loud", etc.

But I've saved the best for last. Side one opens with three consecutive knockouts, three of the best pop songs of the year: "Out Of Touch," "I Can't Hold On," and "Points Of View."

"Out Of Touch," like many of fellow popster Nick Lowe's tunes, wraps not-so-nice lyrics in a syrupy melody. You'll be bopping to it, perhaps with your boyfriend or girlfriend long before you hear the what it's all about.

I won't be in early
I won't be in late
I won't be in at all so don't sit in and wait
"I Can't Hold On" isn't bitter, but it still doesn't work out, but the lines "I'm John Wayne as I'm walking toward her" make it all worthwhile anyway. "Points Of View" may be the best number on the album, and will certainly be one (of the hopefully many) singles culled from the album. It's great musically, and of course, lyrically:

She's romantic and I'm selected
Glances swapped and thoughts collected
By her song
It's not her singing
Words were few
The bell was ringing

So, in a nutshell, "Sweets From a Stranger" is a gem of an album, songs that aren't always that sweet, from a group that you shouldn't make a stranger of.

Dedicated worm fisherman must practice his sport

By BOB BREWSTER
Special to Playtime

A dedicated worm fisherman is an artist. He practices his sport with the delicate skill of a concert pianist, relying upon finesse and knowledge to outwit the fish.

There is more to worm fishing than tossing a gob of them into the water on a hook.

Having "conditioned" worms is vital. Most worms are too soft to stay long on a hook if they're taken directly from moist earth. The top anglers overcome this by "hardening" them for a couple of days prior to using them.

Place the worms in a box of straw, sawdust and dry earth. They'll lose moisture, toughening the skin, making them more durable on a hook.

There is no one best way to rig a worm. Each kind of fish and angling method calls for a particular technique.

When trolling or casting for walleye or black bass, insert the hook through the head or under the collar so it streams behind. This rig is enhanced by adding a large spinner and split shot ahead of the worm.

Smallmouth bass and trout like a worm that floats and bumps along the bottom of a stream. Use two or three small worms, either head or collar hooked, and enough weight to put the bait down.

A gob of worms wiggling on a small treble hook fished on the bottom is a sure way to entice catfish. Place a 1/4-ounce slip sinker on the line above the hook and let the fish have slack line when it bites.

Panfish like a bait that is suspended in the water. Loop the worm two or three times over the barb; it's not necessary to hide the hook. Fish this below a bobber.

Stoyan's Inn

Livonia restaurant caters to quality seeking diners

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

Chateaubriand Bouquetiere for two . . .

One of the specialties at Stoyan's Inn in Livonia, this dish appeals to more than one sense. Not only does Chateaubriand Bouquetiere sound and look appetizing, this prime steer tenderloin garnished with potato rosettes, asparagus spears, cauliflower, broccoli and parmesan tomatoes appeals to the taste buds as well.

Priced at $25.50 complete with salad and homemade bread, this lavish spread will easily satisfy two persons. And when enjoyed amidst the picturesque, Gothic-influenced Stoyan's setting, such pleasure is just what owner Mike Stoyanovich hoped for when he opened his restaurant a year and a half ago.

"I don't like to go somewhere and rush through a meal," explained Stoyanovich. "Here we want people to have a nice night out with good food and drink in a nice atmosphere."

Dinner entrees, prepared by chef Claude Pierre Durand, a native of France, will satisfy the gourmet tastes while also featuring such American favorites as roast prime rib of beef ($9.95), filet mignon ($9.95), New York strip steak ($9.95), veal picante ($9.25), veal parmigiana ($8.50), spare ribs ($8.95) and beef liver ($7.95).

Or one can feast on such delicacies as rack of lamb persille for two ($22.50) or tournedos of beef "Michael" ($10.75). All dinners include choice of potato or fresh vegetable, salad bar, hot homemade bread and butter.

Diners are encouraged to call

Stoyan's Inn at 261-5500 for information on weekly specials such as the filet and crab leg combination for $8.95 or the prime rib for $7.95.

"We attract people from various cities," observed Durand. "It's a question of quality — people know they will be treated well here and they love the food."

Stoyan's Inn, located at 36071 Plymouth Road west of Wayne Road, also offers a diversified selection of here and fell in love with the place (formerly the Sherwood Inn) at first sight.

"Then when I found out it was for sale, I knew it was the kind of restaurant that could attract people interested in a quality meal and service."

seafood dishes, sandwiches, hot appetizers and hot hors d'oeuvres, desserts and a vegetarian plate (a medley of asparagus, garlic tomato, broccoli, carrots and rice) for $5.75. An extensive wine and beverage list completes a total dining experience.

For the luncheon crowd there's plenty of sandwiches — reuben, chopped sirloin, breast of turkey, corned beef and ham to name some varieties — and other entrees at moderate prices. Four daily specials are available.

"I was brought up in the restaurant business," explained Stoyanovich, who enjoys meeting with his customers. "When I was shopping around for a restaurant business some time ago I walked in

By refusing to raise prices since 1979, Stoyanovich has improved the amount of business done and put Stoyan's Inn among the top dinner clubs in the area. Hours are from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday through Friday, 5 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday and closed on Sunday. The group Brite Lite provides its version of the top 40 tunes from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Stoyan's Inn is a family business with Stoyanovich receiving assistance from wife Bona (manager) and children Sylvia (office staff), Peter (bus boy) and Billy (dishwasher).

Happy Hour is featured from 3 to 7 p.m. weekdays and banquet facilities are available in the spacious upper level.

Two famous race cars added to exhibit at Ford Museum

Two famous race cars will join the Henry Ford Museum automobile exhibit in time for Detroit's first Grand Prix, June 4-6.

The Lotus Ford, winner of the 1965 Indianapolis 500, and the Ford GT Mark IV, winner of the 1967 24 Hours of LeMans, will update an exhibit that includes racers from 1901 to 1958. The museum acquired the GT in 1971 and the Lotus in 1977.

In 1965 Jimmy Clark drove the Lotus Ford to victory at Indianapolis. This was the first time a rear-engined car and a V-8 engine had won the prestigious event.

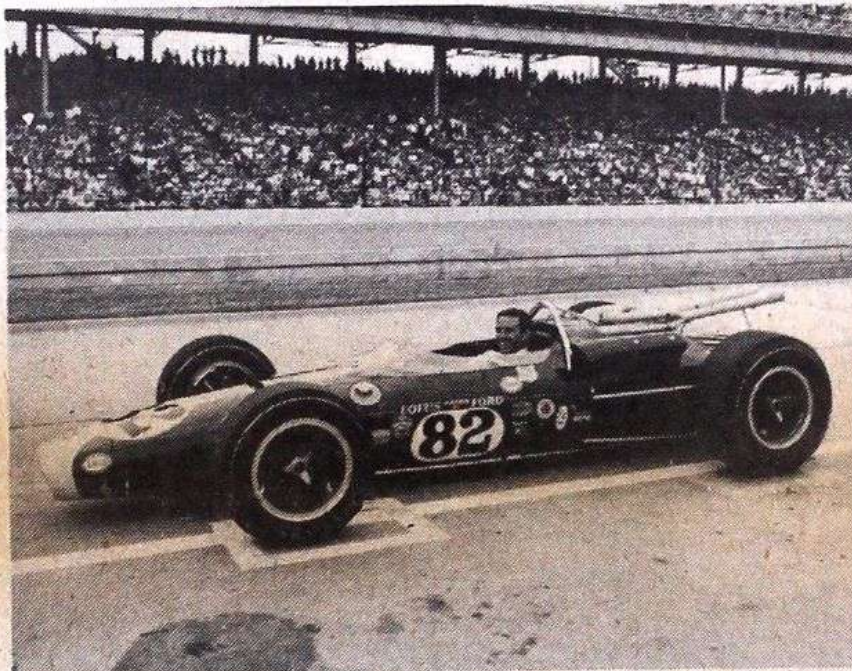

The Lotus Ford was the combined product of the Ford Motor Company and Lotus Cars Ltd. of London, England. Ford produced the V-8 engine for a car designed and built by Lotus.

The car was developed to compete against roadsters powered by Offenhauser engines, long time leaders in Indianapolis racing. Two Ford Lotuses competed in the 1963 Indy 500, one raced by Dan Gurney finished seventh and the other driven by Clark finished second. The car was slightly modified for the successful 1965 race.

The Ford GT Mark IV was designed and built by Ford Motor Company. A.J. Foyt and Dan Gurney won the 24 Hours of LeMans on June 10-11, 1967. During the race a new lap record of 3 minutes 23 seconds was established, as well as a record overall race average of 135.48 miles an hour.

These race cars are part of an exhibit featuring over 180 automobiles built from 1865 to the 1960's. The collection includes noted endurance cars, luxury passenger cars, cars of noted Americans and common passenger cars showing the progress of the automobile.

Jimmy Clark rode the Lotus Ford to Indy victory.

Belleville advances to 'A' District

Tigers await winner of Wayne-Glenn match-up

Larry Petrowski fired a 4-hitter and knocked in two runs as Belleville erased Brighton 2-1 in a pre-district Class A qualifying game abbreviated by rain on Saturday.

Belleville will return to Brighton on Saturday to take on the winner of the Westland John Glenn and Wayne Memorial contest. The two teams, like most other remaining teams, were sidelined last Saturday by rains.

The first of two district games at Brighton is scheduled for 10 a.m. and the second game in the 4-team district is slated for 12:30 p.m. The district championship will be decided at 3:30 p.m.

"We respect both Wayne and Glenn," said Belleville coach Tom Fielder. "They have a tradition of producing excellent ball clubs and each team has veteran coaches. We're looking forward to Saturday's match-up."

The rain-outs were to be rescheduled for yesterday (Tues., June 1), however, if rain disrupts the schedule, then a flip-of-the-coin will determine which team will advance to the district.

In the meantime, Belleville fought off a determined Brighton club thanks to Petrowski, a senior lefthander who notched seven strikeouts and walked none in a game called after five innings because of rain.

Loser Steve Matuszewski was staked to a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the second, but he gave up three of his five hits in the top of the third which led to his and Brighton's demise.

Sam Villa led off the Belleville third with his second hit of the game, a single, then raced to third when Jeff Morris sliced a double down the right field line. Petrowski moved to the plate and greeted Matuszewski with a two-bagger that erased the deficit and lifted the Tigers into the lead for good.

"He (Petrowski) pitched an excellent game and our kids played excellent defense behind him," said Coach Fielder whose team will take an 8-10-1 won-lost-tied over-all record into Saturday's district tournament.

Fundamentals count

The Van Buren War Eagles and the Canton Stingers compete for a ball thrown in by Van Buren player, Richie Locke. Other War Eagles (orange players) to r are Tony Grubb, Joshua Boelter, Brian LaVeque, and Chris Zweng. Game score was Canton -4, Van Buren -1.

Kostick chalks up perfect game

Billy Kostick probably will never forget the Spring of 1982.

For a perfect reason. The 11-year-old Oakland A's hurler out of the Romulus Little League Major's made history in the league and probably in western Wayne County by tossing a perfect game.

Facing the minimum 18-batters and striking out 10 of them, Billy chalked up a 26-0 victory over the Cincy Reds and earned a niche in history as the first pitcher in his league to fire a perfect game.

"In Little League baseball we play only six innings," explained coach Bob McCurry, "and Kostick got the 18 batters out."

Billy said "that my teammates really played excellent defense, in fact, they should get the most credit for it." (Spoken like a real pro, Billy).

That perfect game was carded on Friday, May 14, and everyone contributed at the plate for the winners as each Oakland A batter got at least one hit.

However, Darrell Fischer came up with a couple of defensive gems as did short stop Steve Hoinka and rightfielder Travis Wells. It appeared that the Reds would put a man on base when a grounder hit to second baseman Russell Parks was momentarily bobbled, but Russell managed to get the ball over to Fischer for the putout.

Softball benefit helps MD

If you want to see some fast softball action and help the fight against muscular dystrophy, Romulus is the place to be on June 7.

There will be a benefit softball game, pitting the City Hall employees against the elected officials and City Hall administrators, starting at 7:15 p.m. at Elmer Johnson Park, located on Ozga Rd.

The game, in its seventh year, has helped to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation. The duel between these two "arch rivals" has always produced some surprises.

There is no set admission charge, however, donations for M.D. will be collected during the game.

BILLY KOSTICK

Romulus ousts 7th ranked power, Temperance, 5-4

"What I think happened is that they were overconfident," said Romulus softball coach Fred Coleman, whose girls jolted seventh-ranked state power Temperance Bedford 5-4 to qualify for the Class A District Playoffs set for Saturday at Plymouth Canton.

"They (Bedford) are a fine team and for a moment I was really worried," Coleman continued, "but our defense remained solid and we got key hits which pulled us through."

Temperance drew first blood, going up in the second inning 2-0, then increasing that margin to 3-0 in the top of the fourth. But Coleman's Eagles struck back in the bottom of the fourth as Emy Fall singled to start the rally.

Fall advanced to second on Myra Zamaro's fielder's choice and, Lori Summerfield's single, placed Eagles on first and third. Margaret Savage then worked losing pitcher Debbie Rollman for a walk, loading the bases.

Romulus' Doreen Lasacco came through with a 2-run single, making it a 3-2 ballgame. Then, Tracy Barnett walked and designated hitter Kim Doss sliced a run-scoring single, tying the game at 3-all, and when Vickie Hall also drilled a single, driving home the lead run, Romulus had a 4-3 margin to protect for pitcher Vickie Hall.

But Hall gave up a run in the next inning, tying the game again, this time at 4-all.

It wasn't until the bottom of the sixth that the Eagles settled the issue with the then seventh-ranked state team. Rollman gave up a single to Lasacco in that inning, and Coleman decided to lift the slugger for pinch-runner. Barnett sacrificed, putting the go-ahead run on second and Kim Doss hammered a single to left center, driving home what proved to be the winning run.

Hall picked up the decision, giving up a total of seven hits for those four runs. She also struck out two and walked two.

The Canton Class A District Tournament is scheduled to begin at 12:30, and Romulus will play the survivor of the Belleville-Adrian game; in the 1:30 p.m. game Salem clashes with arch-rival, Canton. The championship will be decided at 3:30 p.m.

Spartans capture track championship

The pieces fell into place for Coach Dick Gordon and Cherry Hill's track team last week as the Spartans emerged from Southgate Schafer with sole possession of the Tri-River Conference championship.

Defeated by Garden City West in a dual meet, the best the defending champs hoped for was a co-championship this year. However, West was edged by Dearborn Heights Crestwood by one-point, 106-105, leaving the Garden City West team in third place and out of reach of the title for the seventh consecutive year.

Cherry Hill's parlayed its 144 points at the conference meet and its second place finish during the regular league season, entitling them to the title rights outright.

"I felt we would come out of there with a co-championship," said Coach Gordon, "but Crestwood and the rest of the league helped us out a lot. And everything fell into place for us at the expense of West."

Cherry Hill also garnered six individual gold medals and won league titles in two of the relays.

Dan Smith won the league title in the mile as he turned in a 4:31 effort. He also came up with the gold for his 1:58 performance in the half-mile run.

Cherry Hill also had a double winner in Louis Smith (no relation to Dan) who was clocked in the winning time of 10.3 for the 100-yard dash and yad a 23.2 in winning the 220-yard dash. Smith owns the school mark for the 220, putting a 22.6 on the record board thanks to his victory in an earlier meet at Garden City West.

Steve Sheahan's contributions to the title included a victory in the long jump, a 20 feet, 2 inches performance. He was crowned the league champ for his 41.2 for the 33-yard low hurdles.

Gordon's foursome of Vondale Tate, Richard Smith, Sheahan and Lou Smith captured the 880-yard relay in 1:33.3, and the Spartan mile relay team of Leonard Bankhead, Richard Smith, Dana Palazzolo, and Dan Smith came away with the gold after turning in with a 3:40 effort.

The Spartans will be represented at the state Class B finals on Saturday in Grand Rapids with Sheahan and Smith who qualified at the regionals staged last week at Warren Fitzgerald.

Sheahan got a gold for his 21 feet, 7 1/2 inch leap in the long jump while Smith claimed a pair of second place medals for his performances in the mile (4:31.2) and the half-mile (2:01).

Lee Raymond victor in Flat Rock '100'

Dayton, Ohio native Lee Raymond scored his first-ever win on the ARCA Talladega Super Car Series tour Saturday night in the Flat Rock 100 at Flat Rock Speedway.

Early leaders Marvin Smith and Scott Stovall battled back and forth for the lead for the first half of the race. The duo ducked in and out of traffic while setting a very fast pace.

Raymond took the lead on lap 65 during a caution period from Smith, who pitted for tires. The rookie contender held off Bob Dotter for the last 35 laps to claim a well-deserved win in the exciting race.

Harold Cook of Sylvania, Ohio claimed his first victory in the 30 lap

Late Model ARCA Late Model feature. Cook took the lead from Dave Kuhlman of Howell on lap 11 and stayed out in front to the checkered flag. Bob Fox of Royal Oak took third, Bobby Thomsen of Southgate was fourth, and Royce Cornett of Toledo, Ohio was fifth. Six cars were battling for third spot on the final lap.

In Figure 8 action, Bob Studt of Dearborn Heights sailed to his second victory of the young season. Early contender Chuck Hall of Toledo took a wild ride as he and Jack Franzil of Dearborn Heights tangled at the intersection, sending Hall spinning the entire length of the straight.

Rockwood's Gary Earley managed to finish second, third was John Briggs of Ypsilanti, Al Grinde of Pearl Beach was fourth, and Dave Bazy of Trenton grabbed fifth.

John Wyman of Carleton held on for his first victory of the year in the 12 lap Street Stock feature. John Maki of Troy, Rick Bundon of Ypsilanti, Len Jaynes of Livonia, and Kevin Pelkey of Westland rounded out the top five.

Flat Rock Speedway will be the site of the Michigan Short Track Grand Prix next Saturday, June 5. The ICAR Supermodified/Sprints, Late Models, Figure 8's, and Street Stocks will all be in competition. A celebrity race is also scheduled.

Time trials are at 6:30, with racing at 8:00 p.m.

Beyer lifts Northwood to victory

Wayne's Todd Beyer, a senior at Northwood Institute, is a member of the Northwood tennis team which won championships in both the Great Lakes Conference and NAIA

District 23 during the 1982 season. Beyer, who teamed with Curt Tetreault to win the GLIAC number one doubles title for the second straight year, is one of six North-men who will be competing in the NAIA national tennis tournament in Kansas City, Missouri June 1-5.

A graduate of Wayne High, Beyer was 13-4 number three singles and teamed with Tetreault to go undefeated in 19 doubles matches as the Northmen recorded a 14-1 mark in dual matches.

Todd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Beyer of 35642 Winslow in Wayne.

Tigers chase Bentley for Suburban 8 crown

Belleville softballers kept their slim Suburban 8 Conference title hopes alive last week by overcoming Plymouth Salem 4-3 to fatten their league record to 8-3 on the season.

Coach Peggy Curtis's Tigers however still continue to chase once-defeated Livonia Bentley for what could be the final Suburban 8 Conference title. (The league will lose the Plymouth school next year, and is in the process of realigning with other area schools.)

Belleville got on the scoreboard with two runs in the second inning, then added single tallies in the fifth and seventh. Salem countered with a last inning run and nearly forced the issue to an extra inning, but winning pitcher Judy Wisniewski put out the fire.

Virgette Stoltz and Jill Pence, mainstays of the Belleville assault, belted in single runs, making each of their hits count, while teammates Anne Plaza, Michelle LaMance, Amanda Hancotte and Debbie Stull also chipped in with a hit apiece.

Gettting ready for the playoffs, Coach Curtis's Tigers have a 13-8 over-all and an 8-3 league record.

Cabinet maker

Jeff Treder, a junior at Romulus Senior High School, was awarded the first place for his walnut medicine cabinet during the regional Michigan Education Society project competition held at Trenton High School. Jeff's project was constructed under the supervision of his instructor, Howard Miller. The first place award enabled Jeff to enter the cabinet in state level of competition in Grand Rapids. In the state competition, Jeff's project placed eighth.

Board says 'No' to Crier

The "Town Crier," a newsletter financially backed by the controversial DetRo Recovery, Incorporated, had the doors slammed in its face, this time by the Romulus

Board of Education. The newsletter's officials had had permission from the board to lease part of the Harrison School, however, the Board voted 7-0 to reject the proposal. "Due to the controversy surrounding the Town Crier," said Board trustee Daniel Bales, "we just don't want to be involved and have them in one of our buildings." DetRo has been attempting to convince City Council that its proposal to build a sludge plant in the city is environmentally safe. They propose to transport Detroit sludge into Romulus and manufacture fertilizer from it.

The city has gone to court to prevent the construction of the plant.

Westland budget draws comment

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

The turnout was sparse for a special public hearing on Mayor Charles Pickering's 1982-83 budget, but those in attendance were vocal about which city services they consider uncuttable.

The public hearing, held Monday evening, was called by the City Council to garner citizen input on the proposed budget, and what the council heard was that police and fire services should not be cut, even through not filling current vacancies.

The more than $19 million proposed budget, presented to council in April, proposes to capture a portion of the millage rollup the city is allowed to generate enough new revenue to keep the city on even keel and erase a heavy dose of red ink.

However, the council Monday received a communication from Finance Director Larry Williams indicating that due to final State Equalized Valuation (SEV) figures, the third quarter projection of the current budget "and other factors" the proposed budget has been adjusted to raise the millage to 7.63 mills, a .13 mill increase over what had been proposed.

According to Williams, the increase in millage will allow the city to collect the same amount of new revenue as it would have at 7.5 mills, since the city SEV overall was lowered by some $11 million to $647 million.

Taxes will comprise some 61 percent of the revenue coming into the city in the new fiscal year, with state shared revenues making up 28 percent and the remainder from federal shared revenue, interest income and other local revenue sources.

Of the more than $19 million budget, 61 percent or about $11 million, goes for personnel and some 24 percent for services and charges. In the proposed budget, capital outlays—the purchase of such items as vehicles—is a minimal $31,000, according to Williams.

Commissioners to ask for COLA cutback

A resolution by Wayne County Commissioner Kay L. Beard of Inkster, asking that elected officials and exempt employees give up cost-of-living allowances to help avoid threatening lay-offs of some 745 county employees, won the unanimous support of the full Board last week.

A second resolution submitted by Commissioner Beard, and also approved, seeks to help the Budd Company in its competitive bidding for work against a Canadian company by asking the entire Michigan Congressional Delegation to step into the "unfair situation."

Commissioner Beard contends that in view of the current economic situation in Michigan, local industries should not be placed in the position of having to bid against foreign countries.

Romulus residents awarded degrees

Three Romulus residents were among those who received their degrees at Mercy College of Detroit's Forty-first annual Commencement.

Graduating with honors was Sharon K. Corliss with a Bachelor of Science degree as a physician assistant.

Awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology was Benetta D. Levine. Receiving a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree was Toni A. Arlington.

Romulus' Schaffer is an ALL-GLIAC pick

Saginaw Valley State College junior Jane Schaffer, a Cabri High School graduate from Romulus and Carolyn Ridker, a junior from Bay City All Saints High School, were named to the 1982 All-Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) women's softball team announced yesterday.

Shaffer, the Cardinals shortstop-third baseman, receives her third straight GLIAC honor. She was an All-Conference selection the past two years as the Cards' ace catcher. After moving out from behind the plate, she is having her finest season ever, according to SVSC head softball coach Sue Guevara. Schaffer ended conference action with a .500 batting average.

"Jane has done a super job for us all season," said first-year coach Guevara. "Her hitting has come on real strong in the last part of the season, which is a real key for us in tournament action."

The Lady Cardinals are in Kearney, Nebraska, this week, participating in the NAIA national softball tournament as the seventh-seeded team.

The announcement shall indicate where and how the plan may be obtained or reviewed and shall indicate that not less than Three (3) Public Hearings shall be conducted before formal adoption. The first Public Hearing shall not be held until Thirty (30) Days have elapsed from the date of the notice announcing the availability of the plan.

- After the Public Hearings, the Board shall prepare a written summary of the comments received, provide comments on the major concerns raised, and make amendments to the plan.

1800-800 ADOPTION OR REJECTION OF PLAN: The Board shall adopt or reject the plan within Thirty (30) Days or at the second scheduled Board meeting after receipt of the plan. If the Board rejects the plan, it shall indicate its reason(s) for rejection and return the plan for reconsideration. The Board shall make the necessary changes and submit the plan to the City Council within Thirty (30) Days after receipt of the rejection.

1800-900 FINAL DECISION ON PLAN: FAILURE TO ACT: The City Council shall make a final decision on the plan within One Hundred Twenty (120) Days after it first receives the plan. If the Council fails to formally adopt or reject the plan within One Hundred Twenty (120) Days, the plan shall be considered adopted.

1800-1000 CONSTRUCTION PERMITS; LICENSE: A person shall not engage in an environmental sensitive project without a construction permit from the Chief Building Inspector. The Chief Building Inspector may not issue permits and licenses under this Ordinance for existing or proposed facilities and other authorized operations included in this Ordinance before the adoption of the plan by the City Council. After the plan is adopted by the City Council, the Chief Building Inspector shall not issue a permit or license under this Ordinance until the Environmental Protection Board has made a determination that the action is consistent with the adopted hazardous material management plan.

1800-1100 SITE APPROVAL; FEE: A person shall not conduct, manage, maintain, or operate a disposal facility handling hazardous materials without an operating license from the City Council.

The application shall be accompanied by a fee of Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars. The license fees shall be deposited in the General Fund of the City.

- In addition to the license fee, the Board may require that the applicant provide technical data, or studies, as it shall deem essential in making a determination as to the necessity and/or validity of the applicant's proposals.

- There shall be a charge of One ($1.00) Dollar per truck load brought to the approved site, which shall be specifically earmarked for spillage and reclamation.

- The applicant also shall submit to the Chief Building Inspector a certification under the seal of a registered professional engineer verifying that the construction of the disposal facility has proceeded according to the plans approved by the Department and, if applicable, the approved construction permit. The Chief Building Inspector shall require additional certification periodically during the operation, or to verify proper closure of the site. The Chief Building Inspector shall require from those disposal facilities which are permitted to operate certification of the disposal facilities capability of disposing of hazardous waste in compliance with this Ordinance. Upon approval and before construction, the proposed operator of a disposal facility shall post an environmental protection bond in the amount of Two Hundred, Fifty Thousand ($250,000.00) Dollars.

1800-1200 PENALTIES: Any person, firm, or corporation, violating any term of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars, or by imprisonment not to exceed Ninety (90) Days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. Each day that a violation shall continue, or be permitted to exist, shall be deemed a separate violation.

1800-1300 SEVERABILITY: If any article, section, paragraph, clause, or provision of this Ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such article, section, paragraph, clause, or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this Ordinance.

I, Raymond Cantrell, Clerk for the City of Romulus, do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true copy of an ordinance duly adopted by the Romulus City Council at its regular meeting held on the 11th day of May, 1982.
